Just submitted my application, would love to hear feedback even if I'm not chosen!

To summerise my application quickly;

Spoiler (Click to View)

Why pick me?

I think I could create decent threads explaining the inner workings of humans, the experiments I did, but also other experiments. Real life scenarios where this has been used to take advantage of people (like the time coca cola released coke Life and then "changed" the coke zero taste to make people forget about the failure). Even though I'm a relatively new member to this community I'd love the chance to reach as many people with my tricks, tips and general posts on SEO / SEA, Social Media Management, Brand Management, Business Administration and Marketing Psychology as possible.

Thanks for the opportunity and hope to hear from you guys soon.

What if I'm not super knowledgeable in the area I want to apply for?

Could I learn as I go and help others along the way?
