Okay so i wanted to exchange some paypal for BTC so i commented for the same on few CE threads and after sometime he pm'ed saying he have 105$ BTC and if i can send him 110$ paypal fro that. I said okay lets do this. Looking at his Rep and all i went first without even asking a question about it. But its been over 2 days he's not replying my pm's on here and nor on skype. So idk what he is up to he might be busy i am not sure but he is commenting on threads on HF. So i am here just creating this thread to know if he's gonna send me BTC or does he really scammed me. I hope he'll reply here.

Here 's some proofs of our deal.

Idk if i can upload photos. But there all the details on that link.

He's making bullshit stories now. So i guess he's trying to scam me. Beware of this user.

Goblet23 - May 3, 2018, 12:41 pm

Looks like a clear scam. I hope the other guy has something to say and u get ur money back

Slim Jxmmi - May 3, 2018, 12:46 pm

You sent me stolen funds and my PayPal went limited. Am I in the wrong for not paying you? I personally don't think so considering you made me lose $300 CAD. Also for anyone who's wondering I called PayPal about this as well and they're currently looking into the situation apparently.

<https://imgur.com/a/yofKY7b>

edit: In OP's screenshots you can see that he couldn't send the payment at first which makes sense now. He's either stealing PayPal accounts or ewhoring.

Bruh when i wa ssending the funds and that error popped up you knee its my ewhore account. And then i gave you my email address ehen you asked it for requesting money ehich clearly tells what acocunt is that. And my acocunt is clean i have no chargebacks on it so its a legit acocunt for everyone idk why your account went to limitations its something wrong with your acocunt not my fault. So either you send me my miney back or pay me in btc and sort it out with paypal

When your PayPal goes limited you can't send/receive money. I already had $150 of my personal money plus what he sent me, that's what I lost.

My PayPal is fully verified, it's 100% not my fault.

I'm more interested in the fact that this happened two days ago and OP is still trying to conduct currency exchange deals. I'm sure Slim is working as best he can to get his PayPal account unlimited. He should release the coins if that happens, but until then I don't believe he's in the wrong.

ItachiUchiha - May 3, 2018, 1:20 pm

I ewhored money okay. But i worked for it it doesnt came automatic in my paypal i worked and provide my customers ehat they paid for. Thats why i dont have any charge backs on my acocunts its clean. Where does it says that you can scam someone eho earned the money through ehwroing ?

JUAN9087™ - May 3, 2018, 1:21 pm

Anyway the money is in your side unless he charge back then you still have to pay what you owe him(or at least get to an agreement till funds get released), it's not hes fault your account got limited, even if it was a ewhore paypal that wont make any difference, since you should have had to take everything in consideration before agreeing the exchange.

Also you should have messaged OP with the problem not wait 2 days till he makes this thread to reply to him.

Hope this gets resolved.

If what someone said earlier is true about you buying a verified paypal then you committed Fraud, which is not allowed here, imo once Slim gets his paypal un-limited you should get your coins, until then he doesn't owe you shit in my opinion.

Exactly. I was waiting for him to reply me and as you can see in our skype conversation he said he'll send the coins when he reach home then went to sleep then he just stopped replying. In my honest opinion. Seller doesn't owe you shit so don't bother pestering him. Cos you in fact caused this, resulting in yours and not only you but the sellers downfall. The fair and correct way is obviously refunding which I assume will be done at earliest convenience. Basically, you deserve to wait 6 months for your shit back. In future make sure your payment method is legit.

Looks like OP "bought" a verified PayPal account, then sent funds to Slim which resulted in a security hold probably because the PayPal account that OP bought hasn't been active in years and PayPal thought it was fraud.

Nope. Ever heard of VPS ?

that paypal has always been logged in with same ip. Its a legit paypal account idk why his paypal ran into issues. Something wrong with his paypal

Longdog - May 4, 2018, 1:37 pm

Okay first of all, here's my take and I've been using paypal since 10 years old.

1. Slim Jimmy would've received a charge back if the funds were stolen, they're not just gonna limit you and let you withdraw it 6 months later. They are a bank, they are taking that shit back instantly.
2. OP if you bought a verified paypal to ewhore with, you need to age it before sending payments like that.

Paypal is like HF, a reputation system. Once you build a good rep for selling / buying items in low amounts then you can go higher with them trusting you. Honestly I believe since the payment on slim jimmy's paypal didn't get chargedback, its his own damn fault for getting it limited until proven otherwise. Just get your parents info and submit it to paypal. The ID, passport, whatever.

I don't approve of fraud, nor support it. But paypal is a bitch and bitches were meant to be fucked. (as long as you're not doing straight up carding, you're okay with me).

No chargebacks on his paypal its still on his account. I cant even chargeback since he said send as f&f and i bared the high f&f twice but its all fine. And ik i should age it but my account is pretty okay and i can send payments and i have never got someone telling me that their paypal got limited because of my transaction. I even used that paypal to send couple of payments to myself. So that's absolutely his paypal problem. And he should fix and send me funds back or send me BTC.

Never the less he scammed another guy. If you see the deal dispute section.

He's not replying my pm's and just said he will refund after 180 days(Which i don't believe in) & i can't wait that long.

And apparently he himself was using a stealth paypal account on VBA and VCC and random detials. Thats why his paypal got limiyted and they didnt asked for any documents (as he said theres no documents were asked by paypal)

This is the very reason I don't use paypal. BTC is the smart way to go.

If you have money, its actually yours...

No resolution here?
