Which game do you prefer, Fortnite or PUBG and why?

I prefer Fornite over PUBG for several reasons. I was a PUBG lover before I ever even found out what Fortnite was. It was my first time ever trying a battle royale style and I fell in love with it. When I first discovered Fortnite I was just a typical PUBG fanboy and I wouldn't accept Fortnite. Once I atually started playing it for a while, my time with PUBG was over. I like the whole animated style, it's really aesthetically pleasing and after playing it for a while I honestly can't stand PUBG graphics. Not only the graphics but Epic Games is insanely active with it, constant updates, new game modes all the time and they add new skins very frequently. Also, I probably would've never gave Fortnite a chance if it wasn't free! I also love the whole building style in Fortnite, sort of adds a little Minecraft style into the game and I love it!

TB12 - May 5, 2018, 12:29 pm

I personally have not played Fortnite, only PUBG. However PUBG seems more appealing to me because of the lack of the building mechanic Fortnite has. I'm here to shoot and kill people, not to build houses, if I wanted to do that I'd be playing Minecraft.

I don't like the cartoon graphics of Fortnite either, of course it isn't suppose to be realistic. But the game seems much less serious than PUBG. For all we know maybe I'd like fortnite better if I tried it, but I am just simply making an educated guess.

Hi I would like to apply for this group. I prefer whatever game you like Openup.

Kepec - May 5, 2018, 2:07 pm

On PC, I definitely prefer Fortnite. First of all, it's FREE. It has a larger playerbase and I love the building mechanics that don't exist in PUBG. The game keeps getting improved because it has such a large playerbase. On the other hand, for mobile gaming, I prefer PUBG, because you don't need any invite code and the button layout is better than fortnite's (in my opinion).

Anyway, I don't play a lot of any of them. Thanks for sticking with me till' the end. Hopefully I get accepted :P

I play PUBG for both pc and smartphone. I love the realistic gameplay so I'm hook up in the game.

PUBG, even though I don't have the game. Because PUBG has a different set of graphics compared to Fortnite.

ORK24 - May 6, 2018, 4:19 am

Personally I prefer Fortnite as of now, used to only play PUBG but fell in love with Fortnite about two months after it's release.

I think Fortnite is also less luck based since where you land matters less and if you're out in the open you're not done for, also the constant updates are keeping the game interesting.

I also played TF2 back in the day and the art style gives me nostalgia vibes.

Wake - May 6, 2018, 7:50 am

Fortnite Is the better game IMO the building aspect completely changes the whole game. Pubg people run up and shoot you In the back and that's It game done. Fortnite you get shot In the back you can completely out build people and kill them edit parts of the build and make people fall cut down the build and make people fall to there death. There Is more room for error but there Is also more room for better fights better kills and outplays. When you get used to Fortnite It becomes so much better also. That Is why I think Fortnite Is the better game. But honestly I will play either as long as I have people to play with I love Pubg for the sniping aspect.

Thanks for the opportunity to join.

Stixio - May 6, 2018, 7:56 am

Pubg because its best. I'm too lazy to write about this, as I haven't even tested Fortnite, had enough looking at someone playin it lmao

UnknownContent - May 6, 2018, 9:53 am

I honestly prefer them both.

I've been playing a TON of Fortnite lately, because I really like the skins and the pickaxes/emotes you can get. I love the build/resources feature of the game as well. It definitely gives a HUGE play in the game on how you play, because you have to think a lot more.

I like PUBG a lot because it gives me more of a competitive feeling. I think it's just because I have played the game longer, and the way their system works makes me feel a little lighter when I play. However, it doesn't have the build feature like Fornite does, so you use vehicles and buildings/surroundings to your advantage more.

Dr. Gonzo - May 6, 2018, 12:06 pm

Application:

Which game do you prefer, Fortnite or PUBG and why?

I prefer PUBG because even though fortnite is more optimized. Theres alot of randomness to PUBG that makes it more realistic and brutal in my opinion.

Another reason is that whenever I play fortnite and I start shooting at someone they build a little BITCH FORTRESS and I end up loosing the kill. To me the building mechanic just seems and feels childish. I could never get into it that much but all in all I wouldn't say its a bad game.

Edit: also I like your userbar because it is dope and H4xxory so let me join pls.

Wet Rag - May 6, 2018, 12:07 pm

Rs3 because its a better game than OSRS

Eccy - May 6, 2018, 12:36 pm

Tough decision, but overall I'm a big fan of fortnite right now, I hated fortnite at first because I was used to PUBG, hiding in bushes, fighting from a distance etc, but once I got better at shooting and building I realized how fun the game really is. PUBG is still poorly optimized, many bugs/glitches, pretty unstable and there's tons of things which need to be improved. I've played both games a lot, though I got bored of PUBG pretty quickly. Both are still amazing games though.

Neil - May 6, 2018, 1:53 pm

Fortnite bc I've never played pubg before & play on my Ps4 (IDT there's PubG on ps4).

ZeroOne - May 6, 2018, 2:04 pm

Honestly, I think even though both games are very similar they're still very different and for that reason I don't really have a preference. If I was looking for a longer gaming session with more complex mechanics and a variety of different weapons I'd play PUBG. If I was looking for a shorter gaming session with less complexity, I'd play Fortnite. If I had to pick one or the other, I'd definitely pick Fortnite just because it's not as complex or as stressful as PUBG can be.

rl fennec - May 7, 2018, 5:11 am

ARIANA - May 8, 2018, 8:05 am

Which game do you prefer, Fortnite or PUBG and why?

I prefer PUBG because its more realistic. Fortnite looks and plays like shit. Its graphics are on-par with fucking Minecraft. Fortnite contains bullshit like some cunt building a massive tower then putting shitloads of traps in it and camping there all game. You don't get that shit on PUBG. If someone is camping you can flush them out with grenades and there is no traps.

DuelPit - May 8, 2018, 9:13 am

Best luck to all applicants, I hope I can get the entry requirements sometime.

Shlazam - May 8, 2018, 4:23 pm

Fortnite because it takes more skill. PUBG is a complete lagfest. Maybe when they're done with the game it'll somewhat compare.

EvanLB7 - May 8, 2018, 7:02 pm

PUBG, played Fortnite a handful of times and hated it. PUBG reminds me a lot of Dayz and Armas PVP but optimized. My favorite game out right now, been playing it since it was first released. PUBG is more realistic than Fortnite along with requiring more team work. Fortnite you can just spawn shit in front of you to block enemy fire and build buildings to climb up while running.

Pronouncer - May 8, 2018, 7:06 pm

i prefer Fortnite in comparison to PUBG.

My first experiences with PUBG was good, however i was stuck playing on a PC with a gpu that was dying, which kept tainting my performance. I cant say PUBG is worse than fortnite for the price as i didnt pay for either. PUBG and Fortnite should be in different catagories in my opinion, fortnite is a fast paced cartoon casual battle royale, PUBG is more of a slower paced, realistic battle royal. They both have perks, but the main factor that makes me pick fortnite is the bigger variety of players, as it allows you to play on lower end systems, along with the crossplay.

Both good games, different classifications, fortnite takes the W on this one however.. i prefer fortnite aswell. they keep me happy and docile for now..

Haagen Dazs - May 9, 2018, 2:34 pm

pubg obviously because it's not a cartoon.

AlphaIndustries - May 10, 2018, 2:00 am

I prefer fortnite because the mechanics suit me more then bubg, I like building quick in a 1v1 fight which requires some thinking. Even all my mates play fortnite with me. And since fortnite has lots of bright and fancy colors its way easier to play longer sessions of the game than pubg, which is dark.

Fire_Fire - May 10, 2018, 8:36 am

My application, I prefer fortnite than PUBG,

I didn't play PUBG before, but I like fortnite cause it has the building features and this reminds me of when I used to play minecraft as a kid

Headless - May 10, 2018, 9:13 am

Hmm that is a hard one cause I enjoy both of them I like Fortnite a little bit more cause I am better at Fortnite then PUBG and I like how its faster pace then PUBG but for me personally I would play both of them cause they are both really fun I also really enjoy the building in Fortnite cause its pretty different than any other battle royal style game..

Which game do you prefer, Fortnite or PUBG and why?

I say PUBG because I don't like the amazingness and all the wonderful building stuff in Fortnite I just like to shoot people and win.

But on the other hand, there are a lot of cool aspects in fortnite, so I play that a fair bit with some of my friends.

But PUBG gets my vote on this one.

JOHNLUKE - May 10, 2018, 10:19 pm

Hey Everyone,

To be honest I prefer PUBG over Fortnite for a single reason. I like it old school! grab a gun and shoot! No fancy stuff here! Just run around with your team in panties and find enemies, find a hiding spot for snipers and kill them all! But I must agree that fortnite is far from bad! It updates regularly and the concept of building up is pretty interesting. I tested it some time but end up trying to build a wall while someone shooting at me: Epic Fail! lol. And yeah. PUBG is on mobile too. Graphic is shit but fun to play with friends when AFK. I will jump on fortnite really soon to improve my noob level to beginner but for now, I will go for PUBG

I prefer Fortnite, one reason is the Building. It's takes the Skill on a whole new level in my opinion. It's like Black Ops 2 and Black Ops 3, people that are not able to process several task at once are lost in BO3. Jumping, Aiming and Shooting is too much for most of the people. Same goes for Fortnite, if you've ever had a good build fight in Fortnite you know what I'm talking about. You won't play PUBG again then.

sssniwerwolf - May 11, 2018, 10:14 pm

I prefer fornite because when a new skin comes out I can spend all my money on it.

Jugg's Application To Terminal.

Fortnite is an amazing game. It has beautiful colours on it and it's easy to make content out of it.

Here's the things everyone loves about Fortnite:

- Free
- Well Optimized
- Easy To Spot Enemies
- Fast-Paced
- Casual Gameplay
- Building Mechanism Adds Higher Skill Ceiling
- Very Quick From Lobby To Actually Playing

Here's the things everyone loves about PUBG:

- Multiple Maps
- First Person Perspective Game Mode
- Realistic Graphics And Gun Fights
- Driving
- Character Customisation

The good thing about Fortnite is the item shop. The item shop is amazing to collect cosmetic items that makes the game more fun to play.

Fortnite is also free-to-play which is amazing for those who cannot afford much games, like young children.

Graphics:

There are obvious differences between the graphics of PUBG and Fortnite. PUBG is developed by a much smaller team of developers than Fortnite so understandably it isn't as well optimised as Fortnite is. Therefore, if you have trouble running PUBG, you'll probably have better luck with Fortnite as it runs better overall. In terms of graphics, PUBG looks more realistic while Fortnite has a more cartoonish look to it like Team Fortress 2 for example. Players are much harder to detect in PUBG than in Fortnite because of the colours.

Gameplay:

Both games allow you to play solo, duo or in squads and the goal of both games is the same: be the last man or team standing and win. Both games have a toxic circular gas that you always need to stay outside of or else you'll lose HP rapidly. Fortnite games are, on average, shorter than PUBG games due to the map size and circle timings. Fortnite is also different from PUBG because you can actually build in Fortnite. Yes, you can destroy trees, houses, walls and everything inbetween and get resources that you can use to build protective walls, trap houses or build your way all the way to sky! It's pretty unique and definitely makes the game more compelling. Because the games are faster in Fortnite, you will be having a much easier time just running around finding enemies. In PUBG, that's a lot harder and nerve-racking because the threat of players just camping in a house and looking to ambush you is much higher.

Looting:

Looting in Fortnite is much more casual than in PUBG. All items are easily visible and glow a certain color based on the power level of that particular item. Weapons are also much easier to come by in Fortnite than in PUBG where you would typically be raiding many houses before stumbling into anything noteworthy. In Fortnite, you can have up to five weapons or consumables. There are no armor pieces or helmets, but instead a shield that you can fill up to double your health. - PUBG, on the other hand, is more intense in its game style and you can have a helmet, chest armor, shoes, pants, shirts and everything. In Fortnite, you can have skins instead that will change the appearance of you or your guns.

Overall thoughts:

Fortnite is a game to have fun and to play casually and relaxed. But on the other hand, PUBG is more of a realistic game where you need to pay attention to at all times.

I prefer Fortnite over PUBG and will chose to play it more than any other Battle Royale game.

Thanks for the read.

I personally only play pubg due to the fact fortnite`s community is utter trash and pubg tends to have a more grown up player base.

SIM-3391627 - May 13, 2018, 2:08 am

I prefer fortnite at this point because it officially feels like I have lost touch with it. I use to be an addict grinding daily just for fun on pubg and then fortnite came out.. so I tried fortnite and hated the idea of building because that isn't what I like having in a Battle Royale. I have been getting better overtime at fortnite since my friends have forced me to play it. I stopped playing pubg and play it on occasions now. So, to be totally fair I have to say fortnite. I'm on the daily grind on fortnite needing some partners aswell and on that HF grind too. I'm down to play either pubg or fortnite usually I leave it up to someone else to decide the game we play. But, PUBGs anti cheat needs to be better and fortnite needs better support teams. Those are my only two issues with their games / staff. HMU if ur down to play earlier. I truly don't care about either game, it's just fun to me and that's why I keep coming back to it.

Spartan. - May 13, 2018, 5:14 am

However, I am still hoping for more realistic games to come in the near future. Would be awesome if we can have games like sao in like 10 years later.

Which game do you prefer, Fortnite or PUBG and why?

I prefer PUBG over Fortnite because I feel that PUBG is more shoot to kill which I like, I don't mind Fortnite now and again but I really do prefer playing PUBG since Fortnite is more about building which isn't my ideal kind of game.

SIM-3326956 - May 15, 2018, 2:17 pm

I'd prefer pubg over fortnite because I like the more realistic feel over the game, the aiming and firing mechanics of it, the fun and good moments that can be made with your friends and others, and the feeling you get when you win. Sometimes when I'm just looking to have more fun and chill with my friends I would play fortnite over pubg because at times it can just be more of a fun game just to kill time and spend times with your friends I also do like the ability that you have to break almost everything in the game and also build all kinds of different structures for different situations. Also in my opinion when you are by yourself I would rather play fortnite and play pubg when I have people to play with because pubg can be kind of slow paced at times and fortnite is pretty fast paced and has a good amount of action in it. But overall I would prefer to play pubg over fortnite.

Aurora - May 15, 2018, 4:12 pm

I like PUBG.

Fortnite is way too overhyped, and I personally prefer realistic graphics over what Fortnite has. To be fair, I've played PUBG more than Fortnite, so it's not really fair to say PUBG is better. Regardless, I still have a personal preference for PUBG. Both games are fun though.

They both have their pros and cons.

Sc00by - May 15, 2018, 6:42 pm

Which game do you prefer, Fortnite or PUBG and why?

I prefer Fortnte for multiple reasons

1. Damage indicators, provides for more strategic fast paced plays.
2. Building, of course.
3. Physics
4. The fact that Fortnite is F2P while being far more optimized that PUBG, which makes the game almost feel dated to me.

Spade - May 15, 2018, 7:21 pm

I personally prefer Fortnite over PUBG, The reason for this is because fortnite allows me to build some awesome structures to better defend my self, and there is some very fun gamemodes, some as the Infinity Gauntlet and 50/50 V2, I love big team battles and the rush is amazing, I have played PUBG and I actually bought it about 7 months ago, maybe because I played fortnite first before pubg but I just never got hooked onto it, even though you can customize your guns and what not, another note on fortnite is the skins, yes the are cartoon like but I love them, the raven and tomato even john wick! pubg doesn't have those effects for me, I am also a streamer so my followers enjoy watching me play fortnite and well I want to make them happy because thats what makes me happy, and the graphics on fortnite are awesome, epic games is also very active with let alone the challenges but secret Easter eggs and new guns/skins/backbling/pick axe's, also their battle pass themes are always unique to me! I hope you enjoyed reading this and I hope I am accepted into terminal! cheers!

CYB3RM4N - May 17, 2018, 2:57 am

I've said this countless times, and will say it again.

If I had to play a battle royale game for the rest of my life, it would be Fortnite. Not only do I like the art style, but the developers have done a rather good job at keeping the community updated with their plans. They're also really active on their forums and official subreddit, and you can sometimes spot them in-game too! You can really tell that Epic Games is putting the community first.

Also, Fortnite can run on a potato, so no expensive hardware required to get started. Did I also mention that Fortnite is F2P? Because it is. However, this has kinda caused a surge in little kids playing the game, which sometimes ruins the fun a bit, but other than that, it's a great game, made by a great company that loves it's community. I'm so glad it has grown to be this big.

Smexy - May 17, 2018, 4:28 am

I prefer Fortnite because PUBG mobile has what it seems to be some bots.

I see a lot of people always arguing which is better, but there is no better.
All people think is that Fortnite and/or PUBG are owners of the BattleRoyale genre.

I prefer Fortnite as well because I was hooked before the battle royale game mode was introduced.

Honestly, I would prefer PUBG if I was truly good at FPS and tactical engagement.

If there is a mode in Fortnite where the building is prohibited I might consider it the peak of the battle royale games...

Which game do you prefer, Fortnite or PUBG and why?

Fortnite. Building was something that brought more into the game. Complete different gameplay.

Stendoh - May 17, 2018, 6:33 pm

I like fortnite just due to the cosmetics. I've bought so many skins over the past months. I also like fortnite as I think it's a better game to play with friends, I've played PubG maybe 3 times or so and I hated getting shot in the head while driving. I've walked around the map for 20 minutes just trying to find a vehicle and then I die instantly.

Mouse? - May 18, 2018, 4:21 pm

Fortnite because of the added mechanic of building, and because pubg is an un-optimized trash simulator that requires an SSD, 32 gigs of ram and a 1070ti to play.

pms - May 19, 2018, 6:21 am

What i prefer: I honestly prefer Fortnite, since its a free to play game and it's a fun phased game that you can hop on when ever you want. It also has a very big player base and i think it will keep growing since they do weekly updates and adding skins and new items etc... As well as the map is very well done and it's very thought out. The game is not only free to play, but it is also made for everyone, what i mean by that is, it's a game where both adults and kids and play and it does not matter how bad or good your pc is, since the graphics isnt that advanced, but it's still well made, and thats a negative thing with pubg, it's more built for adult and people with a lot of money, since the graphics are more advanced and need a better computer to run without any framdrops.

Background in fortnite:

So I have been playing fortnite for about a year now, and I'm still a very active player and can spent countless of hours on the game, well... when i have time over of course, since i'm still in school and i need to get my grades straight first, but it's definitely the most fun game i've played in a very long time, and the fact that it's free, is just a plus.

I can see myself playing fornite for a very long time, as i said earlier, the developers are very proffesional and know how to keep their players active, with updates etc, and thats one of the reasons I still play, I find the updates very fun and unique. Another reason I still play is because the playerbase is so active, as well as my friends play a ton of fortnite, so I really never play alone, but solo's are very relaxing as well. Before fortnite, i played H1Z1 so battleroyal is a very nice game mode in my opinion.

Why i dislike Pubg: Because the game is not free and the graphics are very advanced. With that being said, it's a game you need to buy and you dont even know if your computer is capable of handeling the game in the first place, as well as the player base is very toxic and annoying in a way of the voice chat being on and a lot of people are voice chat spamming, wich you cant do in fortnite. I can see myself playing Pubg, if the game became free and if I upgraded my computer.

with that being said, I have nothing but love for the gaming community, and it will always have a special place in my heart.

Neodraxis - May 21, 2018, 5:40 pm

Which game do you prefer, Fortnite or PUBG and why?

I've given this a lot of thought, and in my opinion, Fortnite is the better game. Yes, a ton of game critics can say otherwise, but the fact is that it is. Fortnite is a game that redefined the battle royale industry. The last game I played with this kind of graphics and such was Team Fortress 2, and that was years ago. Since then most games took the "COD and Battlefield" approach using more realistic characters. The fact is... It got boring.

And to top that off, Fortnite has a building mode which has never been seen before. Battle royale players must now learn something new for once, rather than having a gun and killing one another.

PUBG is popular, I'll give it that, but it was simply a slightly better version of other games like DAYZ and H1Z1.

Which game do you prefer, Fortnite or PUBG and why?

At the moment, Fortnite. I played PUBG since day 1, it was fun while it lasted. game got worse after the new map.

Only thing i hate about Fortnite is the community, its full of people that play it because its the new "populair" game you know what i mean?

Ive been into battle royal since h1z1, and to be honest Fortnite really brought me back into these games. Love the fast pace gameplay.

Also love all the updates and the developer team constantly working on pushing out new updates daily.

so basicly,
Fortnite > PUBG

My first experiences with PUBG was good, however i was stuck playing on a PC with a gpu that was dying, which kept tainting my performance. I cant say PUBG is worse than fortnite for the price as i didnt pay for either. PUBG and Fortnite should be in different catagories in my opinion, fortnite is a fast paced cartoon casual battle royale, PUBG is more of a slower paced, realistic battle royal. They both have perks, but the main factor that makes me pick fortnite is the bigger variety of players, as it allows you to play on lower end systems, along with the crossplay.

Both good games, different classifications, fortnite takes the W on this one

I'd honestly prefer Fortnite over PUBG as the game does have it's own campaign! For BR sake, I feel like Fortnite has a more balanced game play and also get's updated quite frequently. Although I barely play BR anymore I enjoyed playing Fortnite over PUBG, there was less bullshit and was easier to play with my friends as it was free.

#Anonymous - May 29, 2018, 1:48 pm

i prefer PUBG, I have always been a fan of graphics and PUBG fits it pretty well I did not build a gaming pc for 8k to buy some cartoon-like game like fortnite, it kind of reminds me of a mix between runescape and Minecraft..

PUBG have a better overall style and the mechanics and graphics are more realistic than fortnite. Also I have always been a fan of realistic games, characters in pubg is built more realistically. not to mention the maps in PUBG are hella big and much more to explore there :)

Among the 2 games I definitely prefer PUBG (also I also own it in my steam library), the reason is very simple I like the games more "realistic" as they may be, the graphics is not even to put it in comparison. ... And then build on fortnite I hate what we are masons?

PUBG- Only game available on Android. Fortnite expected soon though.

Fortnite. The downsides would be the building feature as it can be pretty shitty at times and makes me think if i wanted to build i would just go play minecraft however it minimises the amount of campers, due to having more of a rushing aspect of it. PUBG is just full of campers. To conclude, Fortnite would be the better game in my opinion as it is free meaning we cant ask for much and in all honesty is just as fun as PUBG, plus you have more kids playing so winning is easy ;)

In both games you can play very tactical. It is also one of my first battle royal games, and PUBG was my favorite from the beginning.

Before PUBG, I played alot of DayZ, but now i switched to PUBG, because the game is growing very fast.

With each update, it is a new gaming experience. You have always action. Every round is an other round. I'm lovin' it!

Fortnite, because it makes more fun. A game for me doesn't have to be close to the reality, because it's just a game. The building feature makes the game really hard and it requires lots of skill.

Which game do you prefer, Fortnite or PUBG and why?

In my opinion Fortnite takes the crown over PUBG due to quite a few factors. Firstly, Fortnite is obviously a free game and this allows you to basically play with almost any friend as long as you can convince them. On top of that the game is extremely accessible and compatible with access from any major game platform + near flawless crossplay connectivity. I used to be an H1 player till the devs fucked the shit out of it and you might find it surprising that a H1 user would take Fort over PubG but honestly I'm more of a casual gamer now and Fortnite is just for the shits.

So Yeah, I prefer PUBG.

Without the building, you can focus more on the raw gameplay.

Overall it feels much more competitive.

I've played both games. I come from CSGO and H1Z1. Personally, I do appreciate both games for their differences and the fun they bring. I tend to lean towards favoring PUBG however. The reason why is simple... I feel PUBG takes more skill. The bloom, fort building, and other randomness involved in Fortnite removes a certain level of skill gap. When H1Z1 introduced bloom I sorta lost my mind. The reason why I enjoy PUBG more is because it requires recoil control, accurate aiming, smart movement, and a tad bit of luck. I appreciate you reading and I'll +rep so I auto get in. ? ? ?

Hi, I've been interested in the group for quite a while and I feel as though I can offer a bit to the other members. If you'll look at my post history, you'll see I am a bit of a jack of all trades, master of none and I love to help anyone with anything I can. Once I see someone who genuinely needs some assistance, I like to research and do as much as I can until they're totally satisfied. I'm decently active and would love to learn everything everyone else has to offer and more.

EDIT:

To thin out a bit of my slight vagueness... I am decently advanced at:

- networking (security, defense, configuration, etc)
 - ~ vulnerability assessment
 - ~ pentesting anatomy (of attacks)
 - ~ botnet & server structure
- cryptography
- intermediate python (better with 2.7),HTML, bash, batch, powershell

And I'm interested in:

- DOXing
- Site Design
- Expanding my knowledge in everything mentioned

Last edit I promise:

Rep added and not gonna lie, am liking your guys' group display tile thing a lot

I read a few of the submitted essays. Fairly large amounts of grammatical errors in a couple. Writing level mustn't be over that of a 14 year old. One stood out very far. Easily masters level writing. Content was boring but that's what you would expect from an academic paper. He has been added and others were discarded never to be read again.

Hey,

My name's Nico or Swelly on here. I've been enjoying Hackforums recently and I'm looking forward to getting to know more of the community. I've never joined a group before and I figured the perfect one to apply for would be Terminal due the amount of members and for the fact that it's a Lounge group and I post quite a bit in The Lounge. I am currently going to school pursuing a Programming degree. I am familiar with C++ and HTML. I have made a few websites and plan to release an online crypto clothing store within the next week or so. I also love producing and mixing. I plan to learn keyboard soon, but for now I'm still using FL Keys. I have a lot of things I could offer to the group including knowledge on topics such as gaming, music, web development, graphics, video editing, and various crypto currencies. Any other questions you have just ask.

I know this post was written as a joke but I'll vouch for Roytoy. He is extremely active in other groups.

Also, can confirm that the buy-in will surely triple in price due to his presence.
