Hey, I wanna start watching anime series, because I watch animes, when I am with mates, who does. They also gave me some names, but I'm not sure with what to start.

It really depends on what type of anime you like (genre) because there is just too many
But I'd say the three big starter animes of the past decade are probably Attack on Titan, Sword Art Online and One Punch Man

Start with one punch man because it is fun but also short at the same time, only 1 season.

Those and One punch man as the guy above said. There's no loosing on whichever.

It depends on what you like man.. I started with Naruto and Pokemon it aired on the tv before I even had a pc lmao.. but you could start out with something like Samuai Champloo. I saw it a couple years ago. Real short but its got a cool story line. Another dope ass anime I'd recommend is Claymore bro.. short as well but deep an interesting plot regardless. My bad if this is vague I don't want to spoil shit haha.
