Thread: My account was hacked some years ago. Didn't find out about it until a few months ago

LilRaysrevenge - May 12, 2018, 11:41 am

Hi.

I haven't been online for a long time. Haven't really been using computers lately because of personal issues.

I decided to log back on HF some months ago and it said that my account was country blocked. Seem'd weird so I made a new account and saw that apparently I've been hacked and the hacker scammed alot of ppl off some BTC.

I understand if ppl don't believe me and think that I sold my account or that I'm multi accounting. If thats the case just close this account. :/

Who should I PM about this? I found omni on IG few days ago and it reminded me of HF so that why I decided to make this post now and not a few months back. I even DM'd him lol.

Anyways I remember Judge Dredd used to take care of these issues. Does he still?

My old account:
King Cairo

The Post that got me banned:
REMOVETHIS)hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5525039&highlight=king+cairo

If anyone can PM Tree Hugger on my behalf and tell him that I'm deeply sorry even though I didn't scam him or the others. My lack of security on my account is completetly my fault.

Thank u.

Stolen accounts used for scamming are closed forever, sorry bud.

x222 - May 12, 2018, 1:32 pm

well you shouldnt be scamming should you -.-... Because I dont get how your account gets "hacked" Ive never in my life ever gotten an account hacked from me anywhere.

SIM-1729678 - May 12, 2018, 1:36 pm

A hacked account is your own responsibility, no way of it getting opened again.

It happens to people all the time. His responsibility in the end, but don't act like there is 0 chance it happened

Maybe I'm misreading things, but I dont think he's asking for the original account to be reopened as much as trying to explain that he's not trying to ban evade with this new account

Implying he wants to get his account back? Since Judge did account recovery.

That makes sense. I'm pretty sure Judge Dredd predates my HF membership so I didn't get the implication of that sentence. Thank you for explaining

No problem :)

You're only truly sorry if you repay the users that got scammed because of your own negligence.

They were scammed either BY you, or BECAUSE of you. So in any case it was your fault, and therefore the only true apology is repaying them the money they lost. Until then, your words have absolutely no meaning

I'm kind of asking for both.

Want to check if I can pay the fee to re-activate the account.
I did get the answer.

Now I just need to know if I'll get banned on this acc.

I'll totally get it if I do.

Yes it's my fault that I was in a mental institution for about a year and didn't have any access to a computer or phone?

There's alot of personal information that I've shared on HF like my skype username which has my real name in it. I wouldn't really scam on a site where people can dox me in the blink of an eye. I've never made any transactions on HF expect when buying l33t or ub3r. Why would I one day after not being online for months just start going rampage scamming btc's? Doesn't make sense. Especially after blocking my own country.

Both my email and skype got hacked a year ago , I believe thats where the hacker got my passwords from.

Keep your drama to yourself

The fact that you are asking us to apologize in your behalf to the guy you scammed is ridiculous. If you REALLY care you would make 25 posts and apologize yourself by sending a PM. But no, you're too lazy to do that, you want others to apologize in your behalf. Just like how you were lazy to secure your account

You got hacked? Thats bad. But the only real way to fully rectify it is through paying back the users that got scammed because of you.

When you make a car accident because your brakes weren't working, and you smash the other person's car and destroy it completely, you wouldn't just say "I'm sorry I destroyed your car", would you? Instead, you'll pay for the damages you caused, even though it "wasn't" your fault.

The same apply when you own a dog and it just takes a dump randomly in street, will you say "its not my fault" as well?

Take some responsibility and rectify the issues you caused.

I get where your coming from and all and appreciate your input. Glad to see that this forum hasn't changed much lol :)

Only you are responsible for your account.

Want to contact omni regarding it? Use contact form \(+20\$ fee\)

If you want to get around your post limits, then upgrade your account. Otherwise welcome back and start reconstructing your account, it doesn't mean that you have to make 25 shitposts.

Punisher - May 12, 2018, 4:22 pm

It's interesting that all of these closed members are suddenly reappearing after being inactive for so long - shortly after their accounts are purged.

It's too much of a coincidence for me - anyone can search for posts from UID 0 and see every purged account username and then reregister the name claiming they lost their account to attempt to get the stats recovered.

Last time I pointed this out when a supposed 2009 member was claiming he lost his account, this user randomly comes online after a few months of inactivity just to -3 rep me. Seems like he might be making multis to try to recover these OG accounts possibly and didn't like me exposing him?

If I am correct and the account hijacker is the one making these threads - whoever you are - give up, the list of accounts you tried to steal are gone - Omni purged them and there's no way to recover any of them. You wasted your time and you're continuing to do so now.

Vitani - May 13, 2018, 3:13 am

Your account was closed because it was either stolen or sold to the greek CE scammer. It won't be recovered.

I can't say for sure you'll be allowed to return on this account but I'm sure an admin will let you know.

Funny, that user did almost exactly the same to multiple people. Looks like he came back just to deal out negs.

Scamming them, yeah he should.

If it wasn't him, why in the world should he pay them back if it truly wasn't him? Yeah, his account might of been "hacked" and used to scam, doesnt mean he should be the ones to pay them back if it wasn't him.

Thats what I think aswell but I understand Dust. point of view though. Since it's on me that I had shit account security I should repay them.
