Thread: [\[UID= 3096121 \] Beware! Scammer alert: KingCupa69](#)

Brock Obama - May 12, 2018, 1:14 pm

Suspected scammers profile link: <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=3096121>

So to begin, I was not scammed as such, just an attempt. Before you read on, it's quite complicated. Make sure you read everything. I have provided an image of initial attempted scam of me. The rest of the evidence I mention is in the form of threads, which can be edited or deleted. I also have screenshots that I can post, if needed.

I wanted to exchange my Bitcoin ($50) to PayPal. I posted in a thread to offer a deal to an exchanger, to which he fairly declined. Minutes later I received a message on Skype from a person named Spotify.HF - but his Skype display name was the same as the exchanger I had messaged earlier.

We discussed the deal, to which he agreed and then he asked me to send the Bitcoin. Obviously, I was suspicious so I asked him to message me on HF to confirm the deal. He never replied, I quickly realised it was an attempted scam and I left it. Skip forward a week or two, and the Skype user (Spotify.hf) has changed his name to KingCupa69.

I find the HF account of the same name, and it's some guy with 70 rep and non-upgraded. I checked this guys recent rep and he had one negative rep, mentioning that KingCupa69 has scammed him also with a link to a scam report (<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5834713&pid=57067902#pid57067902>). KingCupa69 claimed not to have scammed him, the OP still maintains he was scammed, but as he was high (and I assume he was refunded), he took it no further. KingCupa is keen to cover up the this, as he wishes to trade/scam further.

When I posted in the scam report thread to support the OP, I was sent many PMs of abuse for taking the other guys side. That was until he realised that I knew he tried to scam me, then his tone changed. He went from offensive to begging me not to post anything, as he wouldn't be able to eat otherwise. I said all I wanted was him to admit it and apologise, but he would not do this - as I believe he thought I would post this regardless and used it as proof. He explained it in many different ways, from me being delusional to him having an impersonator.

The initial attempt at scamming me was using a very well respected exchangers name. KingCupa69 is not exactly a highly trusted member to begin with, so why would someone wish to impersonate him? The name still remains as KingCupa69, so to me that almost completely rules out the possibility of someone impersonating KingCupa69 also. Not to mention the fact, he only trades very small numbers (almost always less than $10), to me impersonating him would be pointless.

Now I've been neg repped by a user named Click Noise Elay, as has anyone else who neg repped KingCupa69 regarding the initial scamming that was reported. He also sells Runescape related stuff, yet his account is full of negs for scamming. My belief is that KingCupa and are the same person.

He made the KingCupa account as he needed a new account that he could use to sell legitimately. This part is mere speculation, but I believe it's more likely true than not.

For me, it is too much of a coincidence that KingCupa69 happened to be impersonated on Skype, by someone who tried to scam me whilst also being accused of someone separate of being scammed. The issue is the 'resolved', KingCupa denies all reports of scamming, yet the OP of the scam report would disagree. He also claimed to have Skype, yet he posted in this thread that he used Skype. (<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5443035&highlight=Skype>)

I am sure he will respond to this, claiming I am lying or that he has an impersonator, as he's said both these things to me. Both of these things are clearly not true, as I wouldn't waste my time lying and writing this scam report otherwise and nobody would waste their time impersonating him, due to his reputation and the value that he trades.

Although I lost no money and the subsequent neg rep affects me very little, I am convinced the upmost caution should be taken when dealing with KingCupa69. Despite him showing he's trusted with small deals, I believe he would scam on bigger deals and is a risk of charging back or exit scamming.

This is me you are talking about. Yes, I got scammed but never got refunded the 11$. I'm not 100% sure who exactly scammed me, but it's not something I care about at this point. Although I want the real scammer to be found and punished only to prevent other fellow members from getting scammed.

Cheers,

Yeah and when i neg repped him trying to alert others, this user uid = <https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=2435864> comes out of no where and neg reps me. I reconsidered my reputation on that user and thought i'd wait for CA.

I get this PM by the user mentioned in the OP.

Spoiler (Click to View)

I guess it's same user with two different accounts !

See. These are the sort of things I'm being sent. He's making out I've arranged a gang rep, when I really haven't. I only really use HF for business.

I appreciate your effort you put into this, seems like you put in alot of effort to prove i did nothing wrong so i appreciate that. All new user looking at this i only use discord so Under no circumstances contact anyone calming to be me on skype. Furthermore I have never dealt in bitcoin on all 70+ threads of me selling gold with 0 problems and have only aquired rep from transactions.. Enjoy yalls day and best of luck with your transactions. Even if my presumption that you all are using the same account is wrong I personally dont think anyone of you handled this very adult like so my friends rep stays cept kookur you where pretty nice about everything i haven't forgotten you yo =) me and my bro are tight so he was just defending me.

Best part is no proof from any of them all hearsay no screenshots of the transaction, no paypal emails, just some sketchy cell phone screenshots. i mean you think they could at least show the on site pm's of me giving them the skype info??

I wasn't given any Skype information. I just posted my Skype in the exchange forum and was added. But hey, you know, as you were the one who tried to steal the money. Broke little bitch.

Also, does that mean the guy who opened a scam report last week against you was wrong too? He was also lying or making it up?

Nope, he was telling the truth as am I. The only reason he changed his word is because you refunded him.

This is how retarded you are, you're a uber, and multiple of you guys repped me calling me the a multi as well.

Just because someone refused to go first with you, doesn't mean they're attempting to scam. Also, to reference your thread, if you don't have concrete proof of this, then quit shit posting.

Edit: This is for the retard who posted the thread. Going to ask you to follow through with me.

Considering you never got scammed and you "were" "Close" to getting scammed or whatever you call it. Here's the thing, I understand the name being "kingcupa69", it's a pretty uncommon name to be impersonated. But just from the way the dude on skype talks, I can tell you that's not how he talks. He's in a rush all the time and misspells a hell of a lot. Why do I know this? Because I deal with KingCupa69 on a DAILY basis on discord / text message. If you want i'll even post some of the Discord messages between me and him. Now, adding to this, as far as I know he's never persistent to make a deal. If you don't want to deal, he moves on to the other dude with money. It seems pretty keen that in the skype he was TRYING to get your money, this isn't KingCupa69 on HF. Don't care what you say. Yes, he sells Runescape Gold to fund his shit, and HES never took BTC, ALWAYS PayPal. Do you see any threads asking for BTC? No. Do your research before you make a ass out of yourself.

Also, still going to remind you how stupid you are considering you're a uber and can't use a feature.

As for my rep? Yeah dude, I resolved my shit. So good one. :D

You're a uber, use the fucking trust scam feature moron. Rep is only a number so I could care less of what you really put. Both of you users really are fucking tards.

Wow. You know a lot about KingCupa69 and you have gone to an awful lot of effort, considering your not meant to be him haha. You can deny it all you want, on whichever account you decide, but we know what happened. Hence why I've posted this, to warn others.

I know a lot about him because i've done deals with him. A lot of effort for reliable information? No. That's not even a lot of information. I'm attempting to protect a innocent non-upgraded member considering they can't rep you back, because you feel empowered. Also, I'll deny it and staff can look into my account if they please, not a multi. You pm'd saying mobile devices / more providers. Do you SEE the unique IP section right there in that photo?.. Bet you don't skiddie. Anyways, rep is a number and if they feel like they don't want scammed their open to using a MM. Then again, you probably didn't think that over either, let me go ahead and make a false community alert against you without proof. Lol. Anyways, done replying to your stupid ass. Ciao.

Thanks for all the bumping that you have done up to now, helped get the thread 200 views+ so I appreciate that.
