Thread: Graphology - Show us a picture of your handwriting.

Mr. Robot - May 14, 2018, 4:08 am

Show us a picture of your handwriting - preferably in a marker of some sort and i'll try analyze it using the rules of graphology.

I think it could be good practice and other users can learn/chip in and try it out too.

Rules:

1. Try write in cursive.
2. Try write in marker.
3. Try write a lie.
4. Try write a truth.
5. If you wish to sign it off with your signature, please do so - otherwise don't worry.
6. The more text you give us the better we can assess.
7. Try write normally and naturally in cursive.
8. Take the photo straight on showing all corners of the paper.
9. Upload image to <https://imgur.com/>

If you want something to write - use this

Advantages of Morning Walk

Morning walk has many advantages. Air is cool and fresh in the morning. Those who go for morning walk can breathe in the fresh air. They refresh their mind and body. They lose their tension. Their heart becomes stronger. They walk more. They remain happy all the day.

// Please note that if you are not a native English speaker/writer it might be different - 100% not sure about that as I focus mainly on letters at this stage of my experience. Words are far more accurate as a whole and don't know how they translate across languages. Still worth a shot.

Not quite what I was after, if you could write a sentence that'd be helpful and try take the image straight on not angled as it makes it hard to see.

If you have any lined paper, try that. Even better if you have any cursive writing from school.

Honestly a bit hard to analyze slope and other important crap but your t on rights says you are self conscious and have lower self esteem.

The loops indicated by short lower loops shows on the lazy side and a disinterest for physical activity.

The i is kind of difficult to tell as you have 2 types in there but is generally idealistic with a lack of contact with reality usually found in the intellectual spehere and generally a magnitude in goals.

For the other i in question we find you are negligent, indolent and hoarding. Protecting yourself above others. A struggle for you might be between your desires and realization of how to get those desires due to impediments.

If you want me to try a more indepth one, try on a lined page.

That's... surprisingly accurate.

I'll try one on a lined page when I find the time.

Don't let this one good reading decide it though, I'm quite full of surprises. Would you like me to write as neatly as possible, or write as I do everyday?

You set your lower case t very high which shows aspirations, pessimism and confidence.

You do very sharp y and short tails too which both indicate a disinterest for physical sport and a high tolerance for pain, someone with simple tastes who just wants to get the job done. Short lower loops also indicates someone who is reasonably lazy.

Your i's being quite low mean organized and detail orientated.

The e seems to indicate an inability in solving personal problems and also inability in dealing with anxiety.

Your f is looped which is good but slanted to the right which means highly emotional and sympathetic to others.

A huge L letter writer is a theatrical and egotist person, who tries to be always in the center of the action and attention.

If the letter is basically an entire loop by itself, reveals a mathematical inclination of the writer.

I'd do more but it's hard to see without lines.

Just do as you do every day. I'm still a novice when it comes to full word graphology but letters I generally have down pat. I know most and can analyze really well with a high accuracy. Sometimes I do get mixed up ones that are very similar or different types of pen.

I'll try do a full letter and word analysis for you.

Your capital letter A indicates adjusting to the norms and tradition relatively easily and happily.

Your Y doesn't have a loop only a tail it indicates you like your own company more than others, more of a hermit type who lacks drive required in life. You still have energy but choose to exert it for others more than yourself. Someone who is more often to not back down from a fight or step down/run from a challenge, Usually indicates a independent thinker who is more likely to achieve their goals as they spend more time thinking about them and how to do so.

The letter m we see is very even across the humps (lower case) which means content and have an inner balance. You can handle great self sacrifice and discipline but might find your own health suffering due to it.

The crossbar is set low on the t but generally a large stem which means you set a lot of goals and make friends relatively easily but will struggle with jealousy issues and controlling behavior.

You have a right slant which means you are caring and outgoing but are controlled by your emotions. Your heart rules your mind.

Not going to start on your i's really.

You have a heavy pressure which means successful and good energy/determination.

If the letter is basically an entire loop by itself, reveals a mathematical inclination of the writer. I see what your graphology consists of : saying general stuff about people. Thats exactly the same concept as card reading.

"aspirations, pessimism and confidence." Everyone got aspirations (or at least the vast majority).

I'm not pessimist at all. I wont call myself confident either.

"disinterest for physical sport and a high tolerance for pain" Again something general, but you got me wrong. (I just ran half a marathon yesterday in fact). I'm a little bitch when it comes to pain (if you mean physical pain)

"organized" You dont want to see my room...

"inability in solving personal problems and also inability in dealing with anxiety" As every person, there are situations where you cant really act as you want. On the other hand, isnt that what anxiety is by definition? If you can deal with anxiety, you dont have anxiety...

Etc.

I'm not saying Graphology is useless. There are really good things you can find about someone by seeing how he writes. But these things you told me are mostly bs. (The only thing i liked was the "mathematical inclination" one. I can see how thats possible, since someone would get used to that type of writing. But when you get into subconscious stuff you loose me).

Also, what about the three questions? Which one is false?

Then again your first language is Romanian I believe. Unfortunately without lines I can't really do much with it as it's all over the place but I completely understand what you're saying.

I am by no means a professional when it comes to graphology, hence why practice is important and using the forum like this will either find someone who is more experienced to assist and correct or encourage others to look into it.

Also it's by no means at all a 'saying general stuff' there are specifics in there that were wrong. The great thing about a forum rather than doing readings for people face to face is people can be more honest and open about the results so I appreciate it.

Also yes now that I look at it your t is equal to your h in height which is indicative of treating other people how they would themselves. Also known as showing an ego equal to intelligence without overstepping your area of expertise.

Well something which I do is I always tilt the page a bit to the right, I dunno that's what I was taught. But also something else is on my "y" I basically liked how Walt Disney did his "y" as a kid just didn't like the loop. The capital 't' from Mark Twain's signature.

Edit: Also that marker really bleeds through the paper. I will show ya the back of the paper.

<https://imgur.com/a/vsaVxsW>

(as you can see it bled through; you were quite right I am not a jealous person or emotional I tend to be more of an objective/mission oriented person. Literally I bark orders when I see people not thinking ahead and I will say something and it will sound bad, but I don't care what it takes be it money/lives and anything inbetween when a goal/mission/objective has to be met. Basically win at all costs, and feelings are secondary)
