Thread: PSA: new crypto a hidden gem

jots - May 14, 2018, 2:40 pm

So I have been stuck doing research of my own and I came across a gem called Babb (bax) that could be the best find I've had in a year. Know as this is only my opinion, you don't have to negatively comment, but please do your own research. This token is currently listed on 4 very small exchanges. Its on no huge exchanges, has a small market cap, and has a amazing team and roadmap. Similar tokens on the same exchanges are not even comparable to what babb has the potential to do. I can go ahead and signal that the price will rise like crazy in the coming months. Let me know what you guys think about it.

Had the opportunity to invest in this when it was in private pre-sale but ended up passing, if there's a video up on youtube of the blockchain event they attended in London i'd take a look at that and you might change your mind a little (think it was very late december around Christmas time / very early January)
