Service: Amazon Authority Niche Site Service | \$5K+/month with Amazon Affiliates | 3 MORE SALE
by "iUB3R"

I was offered to review this service by OP over a month ago, and I was more than happy to do so. As I was going to do this review I also got his service heavily discounted.

Before I get into the details of the site creation and all that, I will take a moment to talk about OP's communication and everything else around his service.

When I first contacted OP about the review and his service, he was straight forward and said that the process would take around 3 weeks or so from start to finish. In the end I think it ended up taking around 3 weeks exactly or slightly over that. But that's only because of some delay in responses and unfortunate things getting in the way for both of us along the way, stretching it out a bit. But OP's ETA was fairly accurate no matter.

I also connected with OP on Skype right away, so we could have speedy and proper communication involving everything about the service, site creation and so on. OP started on the site more or less right away after payment had been sent. He also provided fairly frequent updates on his progress and how the site was developing etc.

OP did need a few things from me along the way however. As I believe is also stated in his thread, OP needed me to provide hosting for this new site he was creating with WordPress. I was a bit slow to set up the hosting, but as I thankfully already had a HostGator account I just ended up using that.

After he had gotten the hosting details and all, he quickly found a niche for me and a name for the site itself.

After this he also asked me to make a new Gmail so that he could use that to setup Google analytics and so on. He also asked me to make all the social media profiles for the upcoming site, so that he could then connect them to the already established website. These social media profiles were made because I will get the majority of my traffic and in turn revenue from said social media profiles after everything was up and running.

The niche he chose for my particular site was the gadget/technology niche. He explained the reasoning behind choosing this niche and it made sense overall. I don't feel the need to keep my website hidden or anything of the sort, even if I am to use it to make money with in the near future. This is simply because I don't see how anyone on here would care enough to fuck with it etc.

The site he made for me was this: gadgetsevaluate.com

As you can see OP made 8 articles on this site, all reviewing or talking about various gadgets etc. the site design and setup looks overall good to me, and while I do not know too much about keyword targeting and so forth, I would imagine that has also been set up properly.

While the website design and look seem fine, the articles seem to have the most issues of anything on the site. Now I don't mean to say that the articles are bad, but the grammar and wording often seem just plainly wrong or bizarre to me.

The potential for profit and money-making when it comes to this service is quite easy to understand. You are supposed to earn money by directing traffic to your site and then redirecting them to Amazon, while making use of the Amazon affiliate system to earn commissions. How well this could work all depends on your own work and motivation to your site. Personally, I am still waiting to set up my own Amazon affiliate as OP suggests you wait around a month to do so to receive an instant approval.

Here you can read an example Excerpt from one of the articles, "In principle, the construction of an Invisible charging Channel is not a rocket science. Therefore, the technical equipment is not great different."

Now if you are like me, sentences like these would seem at the very least odd to you. And this is also not an isolated incident with this article alone. It seems all of them have this sort of language/grammar used. This is to me the biggest issue in relation to this service. You can check out the website and read the articles for yourself to get a good impression of how they are written.

Final Thoughts

To OP I would ask why the articles are written the way they are. To me many of the sentences just seem weird or incorrect in multiple ways. I believe you should really look over it again to see what can be improved so the articles may look a bit better.

For people that are curious about buying this service and wondering if it is worth it, I would recommend you check out the link I provided above to read and look through all the content OP made for me. If you like what you see, then maybe this is the service for you. If not, well then this may not be the best option for you.

The potential for money making is there, I am just not sure how much work is needed to actually keep the money flowing.

So if we don't make $500-5k in a month with your sites we will get a refund?

You are guaranteeing the profit of $5k from your earnings or someone else's??

How much do we have to spend on fb ads to even get close to 5k?

Its not a ebook that i can allow a refund.

If you work on the website as instructed you will make assured money out of this. Its not a book that you have to read and all.

I deliver what promised and rest amazon is brand and everyone knows it and it has never failed its payouts as well.

Hi

Can you tell me in PM whats the Average product value you keep ?

are the sites built on new domains or expired / Auctioned domains?

Is this US Affiliates ?

what categories you choose ? (Commissions 4%, 6% or 8 %)

Also would like to see some samples ...

OP has been facing health problems and unable to help me. I am upset with this purchase right now for a few reasons.

OP Just delivers a wordpress site with no traffic or links. It is up to you to add the social medias, amazon links, and then start getting backlinks.

But OP doesn't even tell you where to get good backlinks from, to start earning like his "previous websites". I am a little bummed for this price I could have made this website and gotten GOOD seo done.

I think this service is overpriced for the quality you are getting.

I am hoping OP can help me out otherwise I might seek a refund.

You got a complete website, the manual to get started. for 250$ what do you think you will get ? Please mention a stuff that i have said in my Thread or in our chat that i haven't delivered.

You need to walk and move hands of your own to make some money, i can only guide you not take your hands and move you on the road.

And spoiling my thread won't either effect my time nor anyone else. you are wasting your own time.

I no where said for backlinks etc, whatever you will get you have been delivered when you write new content you can get new keywords upto 500 more keywords that's mentioned and will be delivered.

You say - The book doesn't go into much depth about where to order quality content, link building, or getting traffic

Ordering Quality Content - Its upto you, that you can write it up or not. And i don't need to mention source for those as there are many.

Link Building - Many techniques are there if you google it. You can't expect me to teach you everything and everything.

Getting Traffic - Its not a magic wand that you can ask where to get it, Setup social pages, share your blogs and get engagements from groups and you will yourself see traffic.
how hard is that to do?

You said 250$ is costly?

get 10,000 words writeup done and then tell me what is costly. And here i have don't a complete research and keyword based setup done, which you call costly :P

As long as you don't work you won't make money, that's rule for anything on the internet.
