Thread: My 3 Year Journey on Hack Forums

B FOR BADASS - May 27, 2018, 10:01 pm

Introduction

I first found Hack Forums in the year 2015. I joined on 08-29-2015. I was introduced to the forums by a friend of mine. My initial name was Musical Doctor if I remember correctly. I joined HF to buy some hacking programs and learn cracking techniques. Initially I was not very active on the forums. I usually posted in the lounge, marketplace and Free Services and Giveaways section. I was mostly interested in beginner hacking section and found some good tutorials there.

Learning I can proudly say that HF has taught me a lot. HF has given a lot of exposure to me. How to talk to members, how to deal with situations and difficult members, how to ask for help etc. I should say if you meet new people here, they will always teach you something. It is upto you whether you adopt the good part or the bad one. The tutorials on HF especially on Coding, Hacking and cryptocurrency helped me a lot. HF first introduced me to Bitcoin and other crypto currencies. Now, I know how powerful and unique the blockchain technology is..

Marketplace HF marketplace is the best place to buy premium exclusive stuff. If you want to sell something this is the right place. I remember when I bought Uber method last year from a member, it helped me save a lot of money on Uber Eats. Such methods can't be found on the internet. This is why I call marketplace exclusive. I like how the Premium Sellers Section has been divided into sub forums to filter the products being sold like Premium Tools and Programs and Cryptography Section.

Monetizing I have been able to earn some money from Hack Forums. So, a special thanks for that. Last year, I bought Orion Keylogger project from Maxim. It is a quality project that has helped me get many sales and earn some bucks. This shows that HF is a vibrant community and every product gets attention and respect. I plan to bring some new projects to HF in the future as I know HF has the potential that many other forums dont. I thank the buyers and Admin.

Conclusion To conclude with, I can say that HF is the best online community I have ever found. I would like to give a shout out to Ryan Reynolds aka Funtela who bought me a gift award when I was very new on the forums. If I remember correctly, I won his contest in the Members Contest section. I would also like to thank the admin for creating such a beautiful forum especially the black theme that helps the eyes while browsing. I plan to be more active on HF as summer is here.
