Thread: Forum Moderators

Neodraxis - May 30, 2018, 5:00 pm

Was browsing through HackForums and found the forum moderators page.

<https://hackforums.net/showmods.php>

Noticed that some of the users should not be on said page or there is an error in the subforum.

Nuworld, Juicy-, ?BowmanBot?, Aurora, and Japanese.

This could also be the fact that I am unable to see the subforums, but I'm simply trying to point out a potential error.

Thanks!

These are users who moderate specific subforums. Some are group owners who moderate their own private group subforums.

I assumed, but you're meaning to say there are group subforums called "Empty B?"

Yes. They can name them what they want.

?BowmanBot? - May 30, 2018, 5:23 pm

I am appalled that you think this is a mistake.

The subforms "Empty A" and "Empty B" are a part of a group called "Divined". The group is owned by Divined himself and its only current use is to allow leaders of different groups owned by Divined talk to each other. This happens in the main subforum which is why there is no use for the sub-subforums.

Hope this clarifies everything.

Yeah, but those only moderators of Empty A and Empty B are Divined.

And what about the other threads such as the one Nuworld is supposed to be moderating?

Xerotic - May 30, 2018, 6:05 pm

The page pulls the info from the database. It updates automatically when moderators are assigned or removed. It is accurate. If you don't recognize a subforum then it is most likely a private group subforum.

But Nuworld is not in a private group from what I can see?

Technically you do not need to be in a group to be assigned as a moderator of that group subforum.

I see, thanks for answering my question.
