

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Important consultation ! What is the best pistol currently available?

Edskoudis - June 2, 2018, 5:55 am

My dear friends,

What is the best pistol caliber 45 at the moment and why?

Both in terms of quality and in terms of being fully automatic.

Glock?

Beretta?

Also, what are your comments about the following video?

( 4 Reasons I Don't Trust The 1911 with my Life! ).

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=E0Ao6Fg6P1k>

Thank you so much.

SIM-1097664 - June 2, 2018, 6:47 am

IDK where you think full auto .45 caliber pistols are sold but I think they're pretty hard to come by....

As far as 1911, that's cool if you're 70 years old, otherwise get something modern there grandpa

Armada - June 2, 2018, 7:05 am

(Jun 2, 2018 06:47 AM)SoftButFirm Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) IDK where you think full auto .45 caliber pistols are sold but I think they're pretty hard to come by....

As far as 1911, that's cool if you're 70 years old, otherwise get something modern there grandpa lol, Irony is the most common gun to learn on for a Pistol is the 1911 model.

Secondly OP, Why in the hell would you want a full auto pistol of any caliber? All that is gonna do is spray munitions all over the place with zero accuracy.

As for what is the best make/model? Thats to each persons decision. I personally like Berettas and Walters, but thats a personal choice.

kiwi - June 2, 2018, 7:30 am

Sig Sauer 1911 is available in full-auto... I own the P220 though, why are you set on only getting a .45?

Edskoudis - June 3, 2018, 8:51 am

Dear friends, do not you have comments or suggestions?

SIM-1097664 - June 3, 2018, 9:02 am

(Jun 3, 2018 08:51 AM)Edskoudis Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Dear friends, do not you have comments or suggestions?

I'm still confused as to why you want a full automatic .45 pistol

Combatant - June 3, 2018, 9:12 am

The way you're asking these questions, it makes it seem like you're either not knowledgeable to own a firearm, or not old enough- maybe both.

Mr. Robot - June 3, 2018, 9:19 am

OP do you understand what fully automatic is.

meister - June 3, 2018, 9:31 am

Op needs to be put on a watchlist.

SIM-1097664 - June 3, 2018, 9:39 am

(Jun 3, 2018 09:12 AM)Combat? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The way you're asking these questions, it makes it seem like you're either not knowledgeable to own a firearm, or not old enough- maybe both.

(Jun 3, 2018 09:19 AM)Mr. Robot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) OP do you understand what fully automatic is.

Both of these are extremely valid questions. I'd consider myself pretty knowledgeable about guns and I can't think of many full auto pistols, yet alone one in .45

Mr. Robot - June 3, 2018, 9:45 am

(Jun 3, 2018 09:39 AM)SoftButFirm Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Both of these are extremely valid questions. I'd consider myself pretty knowledgeable about guns and I can't think of many full auto pistols, yet alone one in .45

Quick google of his username pulls a twitter - gives me some hope at least. Claims he's "Computer security geek. Pen Tests & Incident Handling. Father."

But again, i'd school him in any security topic he can think of.

Ps. - OP your twitter needs an update of its password.

SIM-1097664 - June 3, 2018, 10:21 am

(Jun 3, 2018 09:45 AM)Mr. Robot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Quick google of his username pulls a twitter - gives me some hope at least. Claims he's "Computer security geek. Pen Tests & Incident Handling. Father."

But again, i'd school him in any security topic he can think of.

Ps. - OP your twitter needs an update of its password.

Ooooo you go girl ?

Edskoudis - June 3, 2018, 10:37 am

My dear friends,

I want a high-power pistol with a high penetration power!

Some friends have offered me a 45-caliber pistol like Glock for strength.

Thank you so much.

Combatant - June 3, 2018, 10:37 am

(Jun 3, 2018 10:37 AM)Edskoudis Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My dear friends,

I want a high-power pistol with a high penetration power!

Some friends have offered me a 45-caliber weapon like Gulak for strengthThank you so much.

Thank you so much.

What is said firearm going to be used for?

Edskoudis - June 3, 2018, 10:43 am

(Jun 3, 2018 10:37 AM)Combat? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What is said firearm going to be used for?

Self-defense and long-term conflict!

Combatant - June 3, 2018, 11:02 am

(Jun 3, 2018 10:43 AM)Edskoudis Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Self-defense and long-term conflict!

Anything from a 9mm up will work, however it's situation dependent. You said you want high penetration, however that can cause collateral damage depending on your combat environment. In an environment like an apartment or a house, you may want to go with a 9mm or .40 with hollow points, as that will have maximum stopping power without risking sending rounds through walls, potentially injuring another person.

Personally, I would go with a simple Glock 17 Gen 4 chambered in 9mm. The problem with 45 acp, is magazine capacity due to a larger round. Unless you plan on carrying around multiple magazines, you'll only get X amount of rounds down range before having to reload, where as using a 9mm handgun, you can use a single magazine that will have fired 2x magazines of the .45.

Unless you're defending yourself against animals and such, a 9mm or .40 with hollow points and good shot placement will suffice for about 90% of what you would encounter. Unless your target is wearing body armor or any other sort of protection, those will serve you just fine - in which case, a .45 would do nothing most likely anyway. For that, you'd want to look into possibly a rifle or if you're dead set on a handgun, one chambered in 5.7.

Just my 2 cents.

SIM-1097664 - June 3, 2018, 11:27 am

(Jun 3, 2018 11:02 AM)Combat? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Anything from a 9mm up will work, however it's situation dependent. You said you want high penetration, however that can cause collateral damage depending on your combat environment. In an environment like an apartment or a house, you may want to go with a 9mm or .40 with hollow points, as that will have maximum stopping power without risking sending rounds through walls, potentially injuring another person.

Personally, I would go with a simple Glock 17 Gen 4 chambered in 9mm. The problem with 45 acp, is magazine capacity due to a larger round. Unless you plan on carrying around multiple magazines, you'll only get X amount of rounds down range before having to reload, where as using a 9mm handgun, you can use a single magazine that will have fired 2x magazines of the .45.

Unless you're defending yourself against animals and such, a 9mm or .40 with hollow points and good shot placement will suffice for about 90% of what you would encounter. Unless your target is wearing body armor or any other sort of protection, those will serve you just fine - in which case, a .45 would do nothing most likely anyway. For that, you'd want to look into possibly a rifle or if you're dead set on a handgun, one chambered in 5.7.

Just my 2 cents.

Pretty much all this. I'd just use 9mm. The difference between 9mm/.40/.45 is negligible and I'd rather have more rounds + less recoil.

mawrek - June 3, 2018, 1:48 pm

my dear friend,

school shooting is forbidden and illegal by the law in every country last time i checked.

so you don't really need a pistol or a fully automatic weapon.

thank you so much.

Armada - June 3, 2018, 1:55 pm

(Jun 3, 2018 09:39 AM)SoftButFirm Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Both of these are extremely valid questions. I'd consider myself pretty knowledgeable about guns and I can't think of many full auto pistols, yet alone one in .45

LMFAO!!!!!!!

I might take a .45 full auto to the range, for a fucking trial, but real world, real experience. HELL NO, its useless.

Kash Only - June 3, 2018, 2:25 pm

I don't know about you guys but i personally think recommending guns online on forums should be forbidden just for the fact that you never know.

You never know who you recommend guns guys, you can be responsible of death of many lives.

Armada - June 3, 2018, 2:28 pm

(Jun 3, 2018 02:25 PM)Kash Only Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't know about you guys but i personally think recommending guns online on forums should be forbidden just for the fact that you never know.

You never know who you recommend guns guys, you can be responsible of death of many lives. Go tell that to forums that are based on guns alone.

Kash Only - June 3, 2018, 2:41 pm

(Jun 3, 2018 02:28 PM)Armada Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Go tell that to forums that are based on guns alone. I had that in mind while writing this and this is a more serious issue that should be discussed on level of the entire google.

I mean i'd love to have a gun, and just for self defense which hopefully won't happen anytime soon. But the anonymity internet gives us is both good and bad, you can literally help someone who wants to harm people, and that can, include your loved ones.

I'd start a petition or something. But i'm not American :P

Armada - June 3, 2018, 2:47 pm

(Jun 3, 2018 02:41 PM)Kash Only Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I had that in mind while writing this and this is a more serious issue that should be discussed on level of the entire google.

I mean i'd love to have a gun, and just for self defense which hopefully won't happen anytime soon. But the anonymity internet gives us is both good and bad, you can literally help someone who wants to harm people, and that can, include your loved ones.

I'd start a petition or something. But i'm not American :P
Meh, look I am a Canadian.
I do not have the "Take my guns from my cold dead hands" type of mentality.

I own guns, I am licensed, and I personally have no issue with firearm ownership.

If owned and handled responsibly, whats the fucking problem?

Shit if I did not have a 12 gauge Remington on hand while up north, Id be dead from a bear by now.

SIM-1097664 - June 3, 2018, 3:35 pm

(Jun 3, 2018 01:55 PM)Armada Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) LMFAO!!!!!!!

I might take a .45 full auto to the range, for a fucking trial, but real world, real experience. HELL NO, its useless.

I'm pretty sure they don't even exist outside of some sketchy illegal homemade shit lol

Edskoudis - June 3, 2018, 11:49 pm

Dear friends , do not have any comments or suggestions?

SIM-1097664 - June 4, 2018, 12:30 am

(Jun 3, 2018 11:49 PM)Edskoudis Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Dear friends , do not have any comments or suggestions?

Have you just been ignoring everything in the thread?

SIM-3257834 - June 4, 2018, 2:15 am

(Jun 3, 2018 02:25 PM)Kash Only Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't know about you guys but i personally think recommending guns online on forums should be forbidden just for the fact that you never know.

You never know who you recommend guns guys, you can be responsible of death of many lives. Because I've only shot the M16A2 I got to recommended that to every HF member, wonder how many deaths I am now responsible for now?

spradebassen - June 4, 2018, 2:47 am

(Jun 2, 2018 07:05 AM)Armada Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) lol, Irony is the most common gun to learn on for a Pistol is the 1911 model.

Secondly OP, Why in the hell would you want a full auto pistol of any caliber? All that is gonna do is spray munitions all over the place with zero accuracy.

As for what is the best make/model? Thats to each persons decision. I personally like Berettas and Walters, but thats a personal choice.
it depends whats best for school shootings

they're trending atm

CyberStrike - June 4, 2018, 3:05 am holy crap eons ago when I used to shoot, mainly 1911's ( best there is ) I had one of my leaf spring fingers break it went full auto, not the best thing, full auto in 45 mmm hard to think of one because usually if you are now down to pistol those shots MUST count. I do know that there are several variants of the HK-UMP including some smaller very compact versions. 1911's I trusted with my life from 23-27, and a pistol in my book was only if everything else went out the window, next step was a knife or whatever is around a rock or shrapnel we can finish with hand to hand. 1911's need oil or in very hot weather tetra gun grease. When you have a very tight gun that is when you will see issues. Glocks are built to looser tolerances, Glocks you can move the slide side to side 1911's that is rare. Look I ran lots of 1911's pretty much all were springfield ( milspec, loaded, trp, trp pro) I had one with a feeding ramp issue, a bit of sandpaper (2000) grit and flitz it was no more issues. Basically don't skimp on what you put on your feet, your food, footwear, holster, and what you put in that holster. When I used to shoot IDPA/IPSC I used a Dan Wesson PM7, which was really a tight gun, but the most accurate handgun I ever shot, the quality was amazing, although it was a crap shoot.

1911's you will find that quality goes up and down, back in 2005 Colt's really upped there quality, meanwhile before they were having serious quality issues. Basically Les Baers/NightHawk/Wilson Combat/SVT are well known in the 1911 world. Best thing is do your research also "idiot scratches" are an expensive lesson, some finishes eg Springfield Armory Kote is pretty resilient. I'll be honest if I had to choose a firearm here today to go and win a fight with a 1911 would be my secondary weapon, no doubt.

SniperBMW - June 4, 2018, 3:09 am

You can't get a fully-automatic pistol in the USA unless you get special licensing that's very costly.

Glock fully-automatics are possible and they're very reliable firearms; much like how a Toyota is reliable.

Armada - June 4, 2018, 4:07 am

(Jun 4, 2018 02:47 AM)dickbreath Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) it depends whats best for school shootings

they're trending atm

Pfft school shootings are so 1999.....

WHat people need to do is ramp the game up, get a hold of some blocks of C4 charges and throw them in some lockers that are around load bearing supports for the structure, and bring the entire damn building down.

Lordy, its good I did not know my chemistry and Military training back when I was a pissed off teenager. rofl.

spradebassen - June 4, 2018, 5:50 am

(Jun 4, 2018 04:07 AM)Armada Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Pfft school shootings are so 1999.....

WHat people need to do is ramp the game up, get a hold of some blocks of C4 charges and throw them in some lockers that are around load bearing supports for the structure, and bring the entire damn building down.

Lordy, its good I did not know my chemistry and Military training back when I was a pissed off teenager. rofl.

sounds like you have quite a bit of experience in this field of knowledge ill forward you to one of my frien... colleagues ?

Rece - June 4, 2018, 12:36 pm

My favorite pistol is the S&W SDVE40.

Account of the Gods - June 4, 2018, 12:56 pm

Go for Sig Sauer 1911. I have it and people know therez aint no jokin with me

Unholy Faith - June 4, 2018, 12:57 pm

(Jun 2, 2018 06:47 AM)SoftButFirm Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) IDK where you think full auto .45 caliber pistols are sold but I think they're pretty hard to come by....

As far as 1911, that's cool if you're 70 years old, otherwise get something modern there grandpa
The caliber of the ammunition is called a .45 auto.

Get a pistol version Kriss Vector in full-auto if that's what you really want. Glock 21 if you want it to be reliable, just know it's an angry fucking gun.

Armada - June 4, 2018, 1:00 pm

(Jun 4, 2018 05:50 AM)dickbreath Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) sounds like you have quite a bit of experience in this field of knowledge ill forward you to one of my frien... colleagues ?

Perhaps no, please....

Just because I know and understand this technique, dont mean I want to teach or empart it on to anyone else. lol

SIM-1097664 - June 4, 2018, 1:01 pm

(Jun 4, 2018 12:57 PM)Unholy Faith Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The caliber of the ammunition is called a .45 auto.

Get a pistol version Kriss Vector in full-auto if that's what you really want. Glock 21 if you want it to be reliable, just know it's an angry fucking gun.

I'm fully aware of what .45 auto is, but that's not what he asked. "Both in terms of quality and in terms of being fully automatic."

Armada - June 4, 2018, 1:04 pm

(Jun 4, 2018 01:01 PM)SoftButFirm Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm fully aware of what .45 auto is, but that's not what he asked. "Both in terms of quality and in terms of being fully automatic."

OPs an idiot for asking that alone, lets be honest here.

Account of the Gods - June 4, 2018, 1:15 pm

I recommend u Sig Sauer

(Jun 4, 2018 01:04 PM)Armada Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) OPs an idiot for asking that alone, lets be honest here.

for you everyone is an idiot and you are the best highly trained unit who once was running away from someones pistol bullets while counting them then came back after he missed all of shoots and finished him with bare hand. Thats how Armada does it! or so he claims

SIM-1097664 - June 4, 2018, 1:18 pm

(Jun 4, 2018 01:15 PM)Fuarkkkkkkkk Tbh Srs Ngl Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I recommend u Sig Sauer

for you everyone is an idiot and you are the best highly trained unit who once was running away from someones pistol bullets while counting them then came back after he missed all of shoots and finished him with bare hand. Thats how Armada does it! or so he claims
Well OP actually is an idiot.

Also, can Vouch for that story about Armada

TwistedTechnologies - June 4, 2018, 1:42 pm

At the end of the day, any bullet will put a hole in someone.

When it comes to self defense, let's say a mugging; If you shoot that mugger center mass, he's going to be shocked by it, if not get knocked down completely. And that is just with one bullet, if you're smart, you'd put distance between yourself and your mugger. Even the slowest trigger fingers can fire 2 shots in 2-3 seconds.

And fully-automatic pistols are pretty much a moot point. They're not accurate, it's difficult to control the recoil, and you'd run out of ammo to fast (even with an extended clip)

In conclusion, the only reason you would need a fully automatic pistol is if you want to fire a large amount of bullets, in a reasonably small space, in a short time, and be able to conceal it easy.

Why you would ever need to do that I do not know. Yes I am heavily implying what you think I am, don't do it Dumbass.

Armada - June 5, 2018, 4:47 am

(Jun 4, 2018 01:15 PM)Fuarkkkkkkkk Tbh Srs Ngl Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I recommend u Sig Sauer

for you everyone is an idiot and you are the best highly trained unit who once was running away from someones pistol bullets while counting them then came back after he missed all of shoots and finished him with bare hand. Thats how Armada does it! or so he claims

If your talking about the Pimp in the park downtown, its true.

Likely the reason people dont challenge me much.

As for the remainder of your comment, no, that is NOT true.

I just think your an idiot. I got many good friends whom i highly show respect to, not only for their personality, but talents.

- You display neither to me. So what do you expect but to be considered the retard you actually are.

You got no Guile son.... You got no Edge, You got Nothing.