HF has been under attack so Omni has put stricter firewall rules, you can try messaging staff to get your IP whitelisted or don't send too many requests in short period of time to trigger the cloudflare rule

Have the same problem. I have to use my phone to browse right now.

I get same problem on phone to.

It's based on your IP, so if you're not using your mobile plan to have different IP then you will still be blocked or you just sent too many requests and your mobile internet plan IP got blocked too

Did you open many tab at once? It may trigger that firewall.

i did but this never happening before.

quirky - June 4, 2018, 6:40 am not before, but now it does. if i open like 10 new threads in 10 new tabs, it triggers some defence. seems like you have not read the "Please make adjustments to your browsing habits to avoid being rate-limit banned" part :)

Because like I've told you previously HF has been under DDOS attack so the CloudFlare rules have been made more strict. Making frequent requests to the HF will get your IP banned like opening bunch of tabs etc.

I just notice this when I came back today. Just saw a thread about Error 1015 so I just limit my tabs so it won't happen to me.

Theocritus - June 4, 2018, 9:22 am im using vpn right now to get past the error

Been getting this every day as well.

I refresh the page like 4 times and I get banned for 24 hours.
Had to reset my IP everytime it happens. (glad to be dynamic)

I also am receiving that, whether it is on my phone or my computer.
Waiting for a status update from the Boss himself.

Keep getting this error on every page, extremely annoying

SIM-1349466 - June 4, 2018, 2:35 pm

Having same problem, only when viewing profiles though. I haven't been able to view a single profile in 4 days.

I was wondering what this was. I couldn't do anything. An announcement of some sort would've been nice.

Follow the HF Twitter to see some HF updates and also read Omniscient's latest threads (especially threads in this section).

Omniscient - June 5, 2018, 10:59 am

Cloudflare offers a new rate-limiting feature which we've previously not used. So for HF this is a new security measure which will require adjustments to minimize false positives. Unfortunately we can't eliminate false-positives due to the actual nature of attacks and legitimate browsing behavior being very similar.

The odd part of the rate-limiting block at CF is that it only effects the page you triggered. So lets say I have a rule for profiles. You trigger that rule you can still view HF but you'll continue to be blocked from profiles for the time-period. I have it set currently 24 hours but depending on the attack and what's going on I may lower that to something more reasonable.

During times of heavy attacks which our normal security doesn't mitigate well enough we have to enable additional measures. I know it's annoying to have extra captcha and slow pages but it's whats needed to stay online.

Some of you will just need to stop having multiple tabs open and the constant refreshing of pages. You may even need to disable extensions which load extra pages which you don't see but may trigger firewall rules.

Again, new feature, will take time for adjustment to suit our needs. Our security is always being constantly adjusted even if members aren't aware of it.
