I will message you about a VC.

DBS2017 - June 5, 2018, 5:00 am

Is it silent? Will it work even if the user restarts the cellphone ?

You've mentioned a feature to open the apps, will it work if the user's phone is locked or screen off? I'd love to test the features first.

Is it silent? == yes it is silent

Will it work even if the user restarts the cellphone ? == yes work after restarts

You've mentioned a feature to open the apps, will it work if the user's phone is locked or screen off? work screen off and on

I will give it to more experienced people to try it

I received the vouch copy today and wanted to test it out but got into some issues due to port forwarding on my old windows laptop. However seller is very friendly and patient. He listened to my issues regarding port forwarding and gave me advices, he even provided me a vpn to solve my port issue.

He offered me to show it's features on teamviewer and explained me how it works while showing me everything live by infecting his own phone.

I can vouch for this product, it works as it's being advertised. Everything works perfectly and it's not buggy or slow like other Android rats. I will post a detailed review tomorrow after further testing it on different android versions.

Ps: It's "exe" server does not works on XP.(I've tried it on virtualbox first) So use atleast windows 7 if you want to use it on a virtual machine.

The locked screen does not work any app because system android locked wifi after 15 minutes or more

The only solution is to make the phone turn on (automatically) its screen after every 15 minutes
Who tells you my apk works and the screen is locked he is lying

I vouch for OP's product, although I had difficulties setting up the port forwarding but that's not problem with the RAT but rather with my setup. OP demonstrated his RAT over Teamviewer, and explained how things works, all features were working pretty smooth. The support was actually good. OP went to the extends to provide me his VPN configurations so I could port forward.

The only problem with the .APK file was that my phone detected it while on the installation screen. I used no antivirus or anything. I believe it is because of the permissions this app requires, which marks it as suspicious. After the installation I woke up to notification to delete the application. And the app is installed as "My Application", how hard could it be to locate it? Turns out didn't even took 10 seconds. I suggest OP to fix these issues.

Overall I vouch for the product. I'll update this post with further details when I have access to VPS.

Looks like a great androrat, but i have 3 questions, first is regarding the file manager,so we can also upload our own files correct, but can we also then open those files on the targets phone, so for example lets say i upload another apk but then i also want to open it so the target will see the install window open!

Im asking because i watched your video and if you pause at about 1:28 min it shows you right clicking an image and you have options like rename,delete,download,refresh,new folder etc.. but no option to open the file, so if you dont have this feature can you please implement it,cuz its rly needed if we want to upload custom apks and open them like i said before.

2nd question is about the persistence,i have tested many androrats such as spynote etc.... and they never survive the reboot of the phone with the android version 6.0 and above :(so does your rat have good persistence for that ??

3rd question is about the connection,will it work also on 3g/4g mobile data or only on wifi ? im asking because again some androrats that i tested only worked if the targets phone had wifi enabled which is bad.....

Some harder questions I hope you answer:

1. Battery saving mode, does it survive it? Many devices have it and it kills the rats. Xiaomi and Huawei especially, but I'm told it's Samsungs too.

1.a. can you give us some details about the stability when the phone sleeps or is in battery save mode? does it have cpu wakelock or wifi wakelock?

2. Xiaomi auto start. Can it happen? In xiaomis almost no app is allowed to autostart unless you enable it manually. It looks to me impossible to bypass but I thought I'd ask.

2.a. Autostart for other devices. Are you sure it's autostarting? I've heard about a new security update from google that ruins autostart.

3. what is the package 3? I buy only the rat and no server? so that means that each rat is for 1 device and I can't install it on more? that's strange

thanks

Just like I thought, no answer to the real questions.Coding an android rat is easy (please DONT stick to that phrase, asking me to code one if it's easy.Spare the post and answer my questions instead, it will be more useful).The features are easy.

What is not easy is the stability and persistence.Why charge so much for a half working rat?If I'm being unfair please excuse me, but maybe you could answer my questions to clear the picture?

Does this trigger any suspicious alerts (i.e Google protect, weird permissions, etc.)? I know you said it bypasses GPP, but I want to double check that it still does that as of today
