Thread: I will Distribute Your Fliers/Post Cards/Business Cards

SIM-1966021 - June 6, 2018, 6:43 pm

I recently came across a thread from someone asking for a flyer distribution service. I ship out 200+ packages per month to e-commerce customers mostly located in the United States. My shipping costs have gone up a lot this year (FedEx SmartPost has essentially doubled in cost) so I was trying to think of a way to save money and this seems like it may be a good solution.

I am looking for a few online businesses who want to have their advertisements/flyers cards put into the packages that I ship out. I am planning on expanding soon and will be shipping out 1,000 packages per month quite shortly so there will be a good amount of exposure available for your business. My demographics are currently around 120 packages per month going to parents of teens/toddlers (who are buying toys) and around 80 packages per month going to people around age 50/60 (who are buying antiques). My new demographic that will soon be available will be a few hundred packages per month going to mostly women ages 20-35 (who are buying discounted name brand clothing).

I can put advertisements in all of the packages or just the demo of your choice which fits best with your niche. I will not advertise anything inappropriate (sex, drugs, rock & roll... that sort of thing).

This service will include FREE professionally printed and designed postcards, business cards, or brochures. Just note that the smaller the better as large ads such as brochures may need to be folded to fit into smaller shipments.

The cost for this service will be $0.09 each time we place your ad into an outgoing package which is less than 1/5 the price of a stamp and much less than the cost of one click from facebook/google ads. These are all people who are already buying things online and they may be interested in your niche.
