Thread: Main paypal limited \(HELP\)

Hxdes - June 7, 2018, 2:45 am

Hey everyone ?

I got my main paypal limited recently ?

Is there any way to un-limit it, so to say? I have a bank and a card added to it, which I really need

Any help appreciated

Call paypal and ask them why you was limited then prove you are who your PayPal says you are

I don't live in neither the US or UK though, so should I still call them or is it better e-mailing them?

If they have a support line in your country then calling them is much easier, if not then emailing should work, but it'll be slower

Calling them is the easiest solution. They un-limited my account in literally 5 mins and the only question they asked me was to verify my home address which I obviously did.

Get the money out and create a new account thats the cycle

But what if the account had my card and bank on it? I mean, how do I withdraw money from other accounts?

U shouldve gotten the money out earlier and disconnect the card, learn from the mistake and get a new card

What's up with all these threads?! If you get limited, all information needed will be available on paypal's official website!

Try to visit your bank and explain them the situation, maybe they can forcefully disconnect first is your paypal verified with your id card and adress or not bank and cc don't make your paypal verified if you are using fack name and adress and using vpn you are fucked :)

if you can still acess your account and you can't send money i can help you :)

pm me

What country are you from? I'm sure PayPal has a number you can call.

Emailing paypal will get you nowhere.

Message them here: <https://twitter.com/AskPayPal>

Of course calling them will be more effective.
