

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Julian Assange Cut Off

Omniscient - June 10, 2018, 10:50 am

On March 28th, 2018 the Ecuadorian embassy that is giving Julian Assange asylum, they cut-off his internet access. Essentially crippling his ability to work and communicate with the world.

I was hoping with public outcry and support that it was a temporary measure. But it's been about 6 weeks and he's still unable to use the internet. I hope more can be done to show support for him and to pressure the government of Ecuador to return internet access to him.

Assange is the founder of Wikileaks and has been responsible for exposing many corporations and governments of wrongdoing.

If you're not aware of his situation or what he's done for our freedoms and against tyranny I suggest you take some time to read all you can. He's imho a hero and one of the few people who risk everything for the good of everyone.

Wolf - June 10, 2018, 10:54 am

That's a shame. I hope the situation fixes itself somehow.

Omniscient - June 10, 2018, 10:59 am

(Jun 10, 2018 10:54 AM)V u k Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's a shame. I hope the situation fixes itself somehow.

I don't think it will. He needs public support and an outcry by the masses. He's been essentially a prisoner since 2012. That's 6 years. Can you imagine being in his position for that long?

Eccy - June 10, 2018, 10:59 am

Freedom taken away for exposing lies, what a world we live in.

Brill - June 10, 2018, 11:02 am can't believe I never heard about this until now. what a wild world we live in

Wolf - June 10, 2018, 11:04 am

(Jun 10, 2018 10:59 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I don't think it will. He needs public support and an outcry by the masses. He's been essentially a prisoner since 2012. That's 6 years. Can you imagine being in his position for that long?

I feel sorry. It must have been though. If they cut off his internet access and the situation was like that for 6 weeks, it probably won't get any better. It might get worse instead and something can be done to prevent it.

But, do people care? I doubt. Some people do, the very majority do not. Even the largest anti corruption page in Serbia didn't share his situation with us, so public isn't informed at all.

How can masses be motivated if they don't know about the issue?

I'm glad you shared this with us.

REEEEERRRE - June 10, 2018, 11:06 am

I remember when Wikileaks really just started taking off.. and now, no one even bothers. Honestly sad, but that's how things go.

There definitely needs to be some huge exposure to bring him out from the dirt

Zayn. - June 10, 2018, 11:08 am

I wish him best of luck.

Gonna leave this here:

Juffar - June 10, 2018, 11:29 am

(Jun 10, 2018 11:08 AM)Zayn. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I wish him best of luck.

Gonna leave this here:

Never seen a better quote in my life. That shit's so true!

Ganja - June 10, 2018, 11:39 am

Why did the Ecuadorian government cut off his internet access tho?

Mr. Robot - June 10, 2018, 11:42 am

I know he has a few things setup in case he were to disappear so it'll be interesting to see if he can get to his deadman in time or not.

Omniscient - June 10, 2018, 11:44 am

(Jun 10, 2018 11:39 AM)El Pusstolero Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why did the Ecuadorian government cut off his internet access tho?

They supposedly warned Julian about interfering with any governments who are friends of Ecuador. Basically this is just political pressure on Ecuador that finally worked for them to remove his internet. He's pretty screwed without it. He truly must feel like he's in a prison now.

kiwi - June 10, 2018, 11:44 am

America putting economic pressure on a country for granting asylum to a patriot like Assange is the definition of terrorism.

mawrek - June 10, 2018, 12:34 pm

(Jun 10, 2018 10:50 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) On March 28th, 2018 the Ecuadorian embassy that is giving Julian Assange asylum, they cut-off his internet access. Essentially crippling his ability to work and communicate with the world.

I was hoping with public outcry and support that it was a temporary measure. But it's been about 6 weeks and he's still unable to use the internet. I hope more can be done to show support for him and to pressure the government of Ecuador to return internet access to him.

Assange is the founder of Wikileaks and has been responsible for exposing many corporations and governments of wrongdoing.

If you're not aware of his situation or what he's done for our freedoms and against tyranny I suggest you take some time to read all you can. He's imho a hero and one of the few people who risk everything for the good of everyone.

i'm surprised they let him have internet for 6 years. if the government knew he was gonna leak info, why didn't they cut off his internet on day 1? doesnt make sense to me.

also if he has electrical engineering experience, he should be able to figure out a way how to boot the internet back up, but i fear he doesn't have the resources to do so even if he has the knowledge.

i have no experience in this, but can the anonymous, the whitehat hackers help him boot it up? remotely somehow

Ganja - June 10, 2018, 12:44 pm

(Jun 10, 2018 11:44 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They supposedly warned Julian about interfering with any governments who are friends of Ecuador. Basically this is just political pressure on Ecuador that finally worked for them to remove his internet. He's pretty screwed without it. He truly must feel like he's in a prison now.

Damn, that's fucked up. How can it be that he's (trying to) help so many people and now that he's being treated like this for doing it I didn't even know about it for 6 weeks, until you've posted it just now?

Juicy - June 10, 2018, 12:49 pm

Julian Assange is a hero for all that he has done with Wikileaks. He exposed many corruption schemes and in my opinion kept Hillary out of the white house. It's a shame his internet access has been cut off.

SIM-1589588 - June 10, 2018, 12:50 pm

(Jun 10, 2018 12:34 PM)mawrek Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) i'm surprised they let him have internet for 6 years. if the government knew he was gonna leak info, why didn't they cut off his internet on day 1? doesnt make sense to me.

also if he has electrical engineering experience, he should be able to figure out a way how to boot the internet back up, but i fear he doesn't have the resources to do so even if he has the knowledge.

i have no experience in this, but can the anonymous, the whitehat hackers help him boot it up? remotely somehow

LOL it's a serious matter and he's not a kid who need hackers to help him to bring back his wifi connection. He has been denied internet and he can't fight with the same people who are giving shelter to him and risk his life. As Omni said only a serious media pressure can bring back his internet.

mawrek - June 10, 2018, 1:11 pm

(Jun 10, 2018 12:50 PM)J.P Morgan Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) LOL it's a serious matter and he's not a kid who need hackers to help him to bring back his wifi connection. He has been denied internet and he can't fight with the same people who are giving shelter to him and risk his life. As Omni said only a serious media pressure can bring back his internet.

everyone knows the media is not gonna do anything because the government controls the media. the public will also not do anything because people are way too busy focusing on their problems and dont care about the bigger picture so im kinda skeptical "just waiting" is gonna solve the problems. he needs hackers. doesnt make him a kid if he has.

SIM-1589588 - June 10, 2018, 1:22 pm

(Jun 10, 2018 01:11 PM)mawrek Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) everyone knows the media is not gonna do anything because the government controls the media. the public will also not do anything because people are way too busy focusing on their problems and dont care about the bigger picture so im kinda skeptical "just waiting" is gonna solve the problems. he needs hackers. doesnt make him a kid if he has.

2018's media = Social media.

HIGH_JAX - June 10, 2018, 1:25 pm

Are we able to mail things to him? Like Cellphones/money cards?

iNviZ - June 10, 2018, 1:37 pm

It's so messed up they are treating him the same way Mumia Abu-Jamal was treated. Trying to make him out to be a criminal. Corrupt ass system.

Account of the Gods - June 10, 2018, 1:41 pm

(Jun 10, 2018 10:50 AM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) On March 28th, 2018 the Ecuadorian embassy that is giving Julian Assange asylum, they cut-off his internet access. Essentially crippling his ability to work and communicate with the world.

I was hoping with public outcry and support that it was a temporary measure. But it's been about 6 weeks and he's still unable to use the internet. I hope more can be done to show support for him and to pressure the government of Ecuador to return internet access to him.

Assange is the founder of Wikileaks and has been responsible for exposing many corporations and governments of wrongdoing.

If you're not aware of his situation or what he's done for our freedoms and against tyranny I suggest you take some time to read all you can. He's imho a hero and one of the few people who risk everything for the good of everyone.

yeah but what can we do? nothing. and bad people will continue doing what they do. he surely had big influence, but theres a lot of things we will never get to know a bout

btw if someone cut off internet from me id suicide

Jake???????????????? - June 10, 2018, 1:48 pm

(Jun 10, 2018 10:59 AM)Eccy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Freedom taken away for exposing lies, what a world we live in.

Lol the world is much more disgusting than that.

flavoral - June 10, 2018, 2:34 pm

Well officially they cut off internet on him. Unofficially he prob lowkey have access to it dogsmix - June 10, 2018, 3:54 pm

why doesnt he go to russia? he seems to really like them ;(

Zayn. - June 10, 2018, 4:14 pm

(Jun 10, 2018 11:42 AM)Mr. Robot Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I know he has a few things setup in case he were to disappear so it'll be interesting to see if he can get to his deadman in time or not.

He probably has a lot of stuff set up in case of his disappearance. I'm sure he spent a lot of time making his deadman switch incredibly effective. I feel like he has several deadman switches ready. No one knows when each of them start. It could be 1 week, several months or even years, depending on which one it is. All I know is that Julian is a very smart man.

(Jun 10, 2018 03:54 PM)dogsmix Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) why doesnt he go to russia? he seems to really like them ;(

He'll get arrested the moment he steps outside.

BagelMaster45 - June 10, 2018, 4:44 pm

I'm going to read up on him he seems like a hero.

SIM-1097664 - June 10, 2018, 5:10 pm

(Jun 10, 2018 02:34 PM)flavoral Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well officially they cut off internet on him. Unofficially

he prob lowkey have access to it
Some long range antennas and shit haha

UpTheCrust - June 10, 2018, 5:14 pm

I don't think this is going to be a popular opinion on here, but I think over the past year wikileaks and Assange has begun to lose their objectivity and has betrayed some of their original principles. For example, Wikileaks from 6 years ago probably would have defended the NYT author that got her personal communications seized by the government, rather than attacking her further by tweeting screenshots of a joke she made 5 years ago.

That being said, 6 years stuck indoors at an embassy has to have crazy negative effects on a person's mental health. I don't blame Assange at all for having trouble being the calm, rational, objective man he was when he was free. Cutting off the internet seems cruel to me given that it's his only connection to the outside world. There is so much research about how harmful solitary confinement is to people and that's basically what he is being sentenced too. I wouldn't wish this on my worst enemy

Ninja™ - June 10, 2018, 5:24 pm

For anyone who wanna know more about him, please watch "fifth estate" movie.
It will give you a glimpse of what is actually going on .

Apocryphon - June 10, 2018, 6:10 pm

(Jun 10, 2018 05:24 PM)Ninja™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) For anyone who wanna know more about him, please watch "fifth estate" movie.

It will give you a glimpse of what is actually going on .

Or the actual documentary

We Steal Secrets: The Story of WikiLeaks

Ninja™ - June 10, 2018, 6:28 pm

(Jun 10, 2018 06:10 PM)Apocryphon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Or the actual documentary

We Steal Secrets: The Story of WikiLeaks

Thank you, will take a look at it.

Vyxn - June 10, 2018, 7:21 pm

(Jun 10, 2018 02:34 PM)flavoral Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well officially they cut off internet on him. Unofficially he prob lowkey have access to it
He surely probably still have access to it.

tron - June 10, 2018, 8:20 pm

This will probably get me either repfucked or banned by Omni but oh well.

Assange is a fame whore whiny liberal hippy progressive self righteous sjw snitch,

This has been true since he was a "hacker" and its still true today.

He's a rapist with several bastard kids all over the world; they should just kick him out of the embassy and be done with him and his sanctimony.

MaxoKream - June 10, 2018, 8:32 pm

I'm quite familiar with Assange and his development and contributions to wikileaks. I remember how big of a roll he played during the Trump-Clinton election where he leaked documents uncovering evidence of Russian hackers etc.