Thread: Canned Reputation Suggestions

Omniscient - June 11, 2018, 6:52 pm

So far there are just 3 limiting options for reputations.

How about we have some fun and I allow members to suggest new ones to add to the system?

Things like..."You are not a fan of Summer Glau." maybe? Seems like a classic.

So suggest what you think I should add. You get 3 suggestions each, one positive, one neutral, and one negative.

I think we should have "options and sub-options" for each category that can be used for each section of the forums if you want us to make the reputation system more direct for who see's.

How will people know or understand how the member acts in the community if the others only use one section or three?

It is a good community member, it is a good/not good player, it is a businessman with smooth transactions if he betrays people trust or not.

There should have many options to review before the changes, I think many people will exploit the green area to get back up, like politicians.

Still, you know more about the community than all of us, so I hope this fix and make grow our community to a better path.

Thanks for reading, BooGod

When you're in the marketplace there market place are the ones displayed

Omniscient - June 11, 2018, 8:53 pm

Quote:It was never used as intended is the issue two different systems will confuse new members and could provoke scamming.

That's not how I see it. A "new" member won't be aware of how reps were used in the past. They won't even see a rep link in Marketplace threads. A few help doc changes, edits in stickies, and maybe even a change to the Welcome PM and new members will probably be more educated on the issue than old-fags.

Quote:Negative: you're a worse than the CE Greek scammer

Reps will not have any marketplace wording.

Really? That is not a very good excuse ?

In order to buy you must visit the marketplace and the B-Rating system is displayed in all marketplace posts. It is a crystal clear indicator of trustworthiness and you would really have to be dense not to understand it..

Quite often in the past I've found myself giving users reputation that simply links to a post they've made that I may or may not have liked.

Perhaps something positive such as "I liked your post/thread.", something neutral as "I'm not sure how I feel about your post/thread.", or something negative as "I thought your post/thread was absolute garbage and you should quite honestly be ashamed of yourself, you useless nitwit." (I did not like your post/thread.)

Let me know what you think.

Regards.

EDIT: I've just noticed that you can rep a user from there post and it will be linked. Suggested too soon, I suppose.

So I thought of this.

"Welcome to $groupName" as a custom reputation comment. You can only give these reps if you're in the group to another group member of the same group.

I like that. Pretty cool.

Wow...

Haven't been on the forum for a couple of days and come back to such huge changes to the report system.

Will adapt!

Positive: You ROCK!

Negative: Yikes!

kiwi - June 12, 2018, 10:30 pm

Neutral/Negative: User has an inability to read.

I think many people would agree that this is necessary.

Stefanzoh - June 12, 2018, 10:46 pm

I know this is off topic however, I just lost 3 reputation points from 2 different members for no reason. Anyone have any ideas on what happened?

"Welcome to the forum"

Make something inviting that people can give to new members

tweety - June 12, 2018, 11:38 pm

can we get a 'eat ass' one? it's a common phrase so it would be nice if I can let everyone know to eat ass.

Best I've done is used a zero-day method to take multiple vbulletin sites down and then reported the problem to vbulletin to fix. Now I search for more exploits in the vbulletin versions and report them. So no I don't. Grey hat here.

So is the possibility for l33ts to leave negative reputation a result of these canned ones?

KOTOR - June 13, 2018, 9:45 am

"Because you asked for it."

Implying that the user asked for the reputation.

Things like..."You are not a fan of Summer Glau." maybe? Seems like a classic.

So suggest what you think I should add. You get 3 suggestions each, one positive, one neutral, and one negative.

Yepp there's been 2 or 3 complete reputation removals. Two new things have been added too, B-rating and contracts.

Sorry for the bad explanation. All reputations were wiped at one point and then later it was wiped again at least one time but it might have been 2 more times.

You Just Got Sarged - June 15, 2018, 6:58 am

Just saw this thread.

I have one for positive:

Example "This user is very knowledgeable in the Python section."

So on your rep page it'll look like this.

rsx - June 15, 2018, 6:58 am

I think "r u a hacker" is perfect for this

@vincent - June 15, 2018, 9:07 am

"Take my rep" - Postive

"I will think about giving my rep" - Neutral

"No way, I'm not giving you rep" - Negative
