Thread: Uber requirement

SkipTheDishes - June 11, 2018, 8:13 pm

Hi, I see that things have changed. I am interested in applying for Uber, but I unfortunately do not meet the requirement:

The reputation minimum to apply is 25.

I understand reputation asking is allowed? If I PMed my old buddies on here(if they're even active to begin with lol), would that be checked for or should I just wait it out? No rush at all, just wondering! I'd like to apply

That is a good question, my guess is that they will either remove that part, or until then you should be fine asking for rep since it is now allowed.

This will be allowed now but remember that your account is reviewed partly for quality so think about how asking for rep will reflect on your level of quality. For example if you make rep 4 rep threads every other day then that could affect your quality.

That being said, at this point rep is more of a fun lighthearted aspect of the forum so I don't think asking for rep occasionally would negatively affect you much.

I should have thought of this especially due to the fact that I am taking part in the L33T upgrade contest.

Don't let my recent posts affect your decision Steve, please! I promise no more rep related posts from now on.

I don't think rep4rep in this current frenzy will be used against anyone. Don't worry.

It has now increased to 100. I will work towards it. No idea how long it'll take
