Thread: Is this type of userscript allowed?

So with the recent changes to the rules around rep, would it be disallowed to create and use a userscript to PM all online upgraded users asking for rep?

PM spam won't be tolerated.

Also, if you send random upgraded users a PM about rep you'll probably get negged.

I'd like to know this since some users are CHEATING ;(

Ah got it.

And maybe its a way to get negged, but with how rep works now, does it matter?

You would probably get in trouble.

Crowd funded free rep

Actually not a bad idea, a rep4rep script.

lol

There are rules against PM spamming. Just because asking for reputation is now allowed does not mean that PM spamming is.

They are two separate policies, so now you would just be breaking one rule instead of two.

And just so you are aware, PM spamming is usually met with very long bans and account closure.

I got a couple of message from people asking for rep. I assume those weren't allowed?

They're allowed now, unless you're just spamming people I guess.
