Thread: How I know police \(not only\) reads my posts and monitors me

Account of the Gods - June 12, 2018, 1:48 pm

Ok so how i know they monitor me:

- i felt weird on hf cuz some accs with 0 posts were checking my threads so i made a custom bot before hf recaptcha update that would log on my acc, visit few threads wiith last post in 2015 so 3 yrs ago and that are not ranking for any query in google (fully useless threads) and set that bot to refresh page every 10 sec24/7 (now it bans me for refreshing but it worked recently) and i made the bot save page html so i literally saved these threads html code every 10 sec and then after few days used the bot to compare all html pages with regex.

And on certain html files i saw 3accs with 0 posts(actually reading same old threads as me which werent accessible from hf or search or google at all so it means these 3 accs always visited these threads from my acc (it says what thread r u checking) i reported them but they arent banned. They also had same timezone as me.

- they visited me as i wrote here in the past but i didnt open the door. I was pretending im not here but they knew im here(!) Because she looked exactly at my window! And they were making weird faces as i was observing them through door eye it all means they visited my isp or he informed them
- because i was online at the moment and thats how they knew.

- normal ppl internetis fast when ppl r at work and its slow when they come home. In my case my net is slow when they are at work, it means either police or isp or both monitor my net activity during workhours which is pretty normal (still their job)

- microsoft indexer process is always relaunching itself when i close it and when i turn it off in pc settings... Wtf.. and i have same files for 3 yrs on quite fast pc. There aint nothing to index for search results cuz its all indexed long ago. Its also reaching horribly big memory usage. Its obVIOUS that microsoft is using this process to see and access my files in real time. Sure this may not be related to my situation. They prob monitor everyone

Honestly idk what to do. Its more proof than enough to realize ur monitored but they maybe dont have proof to put me in jail. Anyway this is making me crazy

You're just being really paranoid right now. Even if the police were watching your activities on the forum, I don't think they would waste their time to arrest a man who's probably never committed a crime apart from cracking accounts.

That's my point.

Why would the law WANT to arrest him? There are several things that are more important to deal with than a guy on a forum committing some little crimes.

Have you recently used amphetamine or similar drug?

nicehash - June 12, 2018, 2:49 pm

How you would be able to see?

You won't.

Crypt - June 12, 2018, 2:50 pm

You sound paranoid.

Anyways, it's a public forum where some people commit crimes; of course feds are here.

Have fun in prison, good luck!

Okay OP, well...

I can tell you for a fact the Police are monitoring me. ?

Here's a few protipsDo not be doing illegal shit.

Do not incriminate yourself for your dumbassery

Do not give them a reason to place you under arrest.

As for your paranoia...

Smoke a joint and chill the fuck out.

Salodm - June 12, 2018, 3:27 pm

If you think it is that you do something wrong

Im not paranoid, i dont take drugs.

Tbh the stuff I do is quite outside of law... it could be considered unethical but probably still legal microsoft indexer process is something you will manually need to disable as well as telemetry. I can walk you through the process if you choose.

Please post the 3 accounts you are referencing.

As far as whether or not this could be the case, I 100% believe it could and you could be under an investigation right now. I don't know what you have done, nor why you would be being investigated but i'm sure you would know. It could be the school you are at, friends parents - or even your own.

When it comes to serious cyber crime, an investigation will usually take place until a time where they feel they can obtain access to your hardware without you having a kill switch or being logged out as that would give them issues.

Don't do anything illegal and you won't have anything to worry about ?

Pretty much. Let them watch all they want.
