Thread: Business Rating Suggestion

Snapbytes - June 13, 2018, 1:20 pm

B-rating is being abused right now. I've seen people doing small deals and rep4rep with contract just to gain B-ratings. I hope there's an option or link provided where we can see which thread they've made the contract. At the current business rating report, you can't see that. Just the comments.

No matter what system is brought upon us, someone will always find a way to abuse it, Use your best judgement when making deals with people. Real recognize real

You can click on one of the users name and from there where you can see all the users contracts you can click on the specific contract and if it's a public contract you can see all information.

Omni will handle the abuse soon. Just give Xerotic some time to improve the system.

I agree and admins already acknowledged the possible abuse that'll take place and also warned about it.

It seems the legitimate buyers/sellers are using the system very rarely. It happened with me(around 3 members denied using the contract system), as they thought that it's time consuming to initiate it ?

That. Just be patient. Lots going on and stuff being worked on. Complaining about shit is not helpful.
