Thread: Binance Coin \(BNB\) top underrated coin of 2018-2019?

Net - June 17, 2018, 1:35 pm

Honestly, i didn't see alot of posts of Binances official coin Binance Coin (BNB). I mean, even in one of the worst times of crypto this year, the coin has been growing solidly and it doesn't seem like its stopping.

Whats even better if you by any chance have leftover coins on Binance, you can just use the "convert to BNB" and you get them with no effort. Spoiler \(Click to View\)

So what is your opinion on BNB? For my opinion, I think its one of those coins that I wouldn't mind having and holding for a few years, since Binance keeps growing in numbers and updating.

mvmt - June 17, 2018, 2:04 pm

BNB has always been a good hold in my opinion and will continue to be. Binance is by far one of the most impressive exchanges when it comes to quality of service and active developments. I wouldn't make it a large portion of your portfolio but it's definitely a solid coin to hold onto arvustpremium - June 17, 2018, 10:39 pm

It's great because It's a great idea to invest in if you are a crypto bear right now.

The Doge of Wall Street - June 17, 2018, 10:41 pm

i'm a big supporter of binance they try to get their coin to have a steady grow & give it a good use + they burn some coins from time to time i hear atomic swaps is on the horizon...oh wait we are still at centralized exchange stage? nvm then...well so far they provide a good service so if your into that exchange coin this is definitely the best "exchange crypto". i saw it at 1$ and 7$ and decided to not invest...u can choose different... if it requires trust i am skeptically..

binance is a huge company. it costs $100,000 if you want your ico to be listed on binance. they can only grow, so i believe bnb will be a good investment in the future, unless binance gets a major security breach like nano did thales - June 18, 2018, 10:21 am

I bought in November 2017 and still holding. Exchange tokens are usually good.

Yin Yang - June 18, 2018, 12:24 pm

Too many exchange coins out there if you ask me.

Lol it's actually much more than $100k

Bombalicious - June 18, 2018, 12:33 pm

I agree, BNB has so much more potential. But let's see what the market calls for.

i feel like your small mind just repeats everything what the news says. there will be no need for that as certain platforms will already have cross-chain automation. you know what that is little buddy? it means no need to use their service so they profit anymore, we just transact ourself

Definitely, doubt it will hurt if you get some now, since this coin has only been going up since new years.

Alien - June 26, 2018, 11:50 pm

I'm personally going to stay away from the coin. If binance was ever hacked somehow bnb will tank so hard.

I feel like you've pulled this number out of a hat, because that isn't correct at all, and what does a token been an ICO have to do with the listing fee?? the answer is nothing.

I didn't. i'm in <https://dallar.org/home> discord server and i asked the admin when is their ico gonna be listed on binance. he said he doesn't have enough capital because listing on binance costs at least $100,000 why dont you tell me whats correct if that was false information?

Well i'm assuming you asked in January/February because that was roughly the amount then or that admin asked Binance at around that time (I doubt he got a reply from Binance with that info) or asked another token how much it cost them to get listed.

Sorry to shatter you dreams aswell but I highly doubt you'll see this coin on Binance.

What exchanges are they currently on if you know?

I mean it's still a one in a billion chance but you could ask someone to apply to get them listed on the next community vote (I highly doubt Binance would even give them that but worth a try) then try getting on Binance that way but I doubt they'll have a big enough community to beat some of the other coins which will be in there next month.

Nah son you're tripping lol. Costs at least $1 milly to be listed on binance but even then they don't allow just any coin to get listed on there.

Hopefully someone took my advice and stashed some Binance Coin.

I still think this coin is going to hit +50$ till the end of the year.

Your advice wasn't so great. BNB was $16.50 the day you made this thread. It's now under $16.
Not exactly great advice. December would have been the time to buy when it was under $5. I bought some at $8.

And I doubt this will hit $50 within 9 months. It's got a purpose but not one that requires it to gain significant value.

Dollar value, you're right.

But since most people trade with BTC -> BNB, its profit.

Ram - March 17, 2019, 1:52 pm

This coin has been performing pretty well with success of binance as exchange.

West. - March 18, 2019, 9:12 am

How a $2b market cap, top 10 coin, currently at the ATH (sat) can be underrated? Maybe have some upward potential, but definitely not underrated.

Btw BNB has just done a x3, in my opinion it's time to sell not buy.

MegaByter - March 19, 2019, 3:33 pm

Its 90% of my crypto portfolio, Binance is more solid than a lot of companies on the Stock Exchange even Imao. This is why I am personally still holding, from $5, to ATH, to now. Not even going to talk about what will happen if BTC finally ramped back up. BNB/BTC price right now is amazing.

Net - April 19, 2019, 11:09 am

Coin jumped up like crazy.

Currently standing at all time high (BTC value).

Pretty sure Omni was just saying you could have waited for a better buy in period before recommending people to buy it. Buying in at $16 would've given you 50% profit while buying it at $8 (where Omni bought in) gives you 200% profit instead. (Based on current value of $24.45)

Truth is it does not matter with investing.

So long as you cut your loss early and winnings earlier, you wont have issues.

Even 50% is a great increase. I would invest in anything I can see myself making 5% ROI quickly.

200% is obviously nicer, anybody can say that...but it does not matter. I would not let people discourage me from investments based on there current profits or portfolio.

Numbers speak for themself. Binance was and still is a good investment. Everyone will have their own opinions but even a 25% ROI is good. 50% is great, 200% is unfeasible

Maskin - April 20, 2019, 2:12 pm

IMO, now is the time to buy BNB if you haven't already!

Net - February 19, 2021, 3:43 am

Remembered that I made a thread about Binance coin, think it would be nice to revive it a little bit and to see some replies from 2021.

I have sold most of my Binance coin that year, but kept a few for the sweet BNB fee system on Binance. Have re-bought it 2 weeks ago and I am so happy with my profit so far.
