Hello again,

I am trying to sell some programs I have made. I have made a tool that when the user changes their username, my tool will change your username to the users all within a split second.

How much would this be worth?

Thanks!

there's tons of public ones, and you can whip one up in python in like 25 mins (multithreaded/proxies for ratelimits). so probably nothing.

I kind of feel bad, but honestly somebody would buy it. sell it cheap, and make sure it is faster, and sleeker than the competition. Keep grinding and trying to find things that people want here. Good luck!
