Drkwn - June 21, 2018, 11:29 am

So I was doing a deal with Valentino. about selling my Counter-Strike Global Offensive inventory, he offered $1,125 for my inventory at that time.

The alt account he added me on can be found here:

However, we were having a hard time making our online times match, so I ended up adding him on his main.

So after I accepted the tradeoffer, he went offline, and the last time I heard from him is in this private message.

I would also have done that, but he had a decent reputation before the reset, and I kinda just wanted the deal done quickly.

Regarding the middleman, I should have been worried when he wanted to avoid using one, stating that "He recently was scammed, and tired of using a middleman", and I just went with it, even though I gave him the choice of selecting one himself.

Jokes on me I guess.

Not sure about nowadays, but a few years back they'd revert the trade once in your account lifetime, that is after few week waiting time to get a reply. My brothers few thousand dollars worth inventory got stolen and that's how he got it all back.

Almonds - October 4, 2018, 3:40 pm

Was this ever resolved?

The defendant has said so.

Zexi - October 4, 2018, 3:42 pm

Why didn't you contact the support i thought there is a 7 days period in which the skins are held when you can still call the support and get the items back? Hopefully you resolved this.

PerfectStorm - October 4, 2018, 4:05 pm

Yeah any update on this shit man?

Drkwn - October 5, 2018, 5:09 am

This issue have not been resolved, I have not been given the payment, or a refund of my skins. Valentino have not made any kind of contact with me since the deal.

I was made aware of the fact he says it have been resolved through a PM, that claim is completely false.

I have also commented on his thread, denying his claims about this issue being resolved.

The money have not been sent, or the items refunded. So this is still a valid report.
