

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Email Delivery Delays?

Linux. - June 22, 2018, 9:57 am

Anyone else experience email notifications being delayed by nearly days at a time? I keep getting random PM related emails only to read them and find out they're actually messages from a few days ago that I've already responded to.

Kraith - June 22, 2018, 10:42 am

Yes I'm having the same issue at the moment. Was wondering about this myself.

Bear - June 22, 2018, 10:46 am

Was brought up before, Omni said he will contact the email provider since it seems like a problem from their end.

JoshAllen - June 22, 2018, 11:16 am

I've been getting emails roughly 3 days late currently it's been a problem for a while. I hope it gets fixed sometime soon.

BeltBuckle - June 22, 2018, 1:06 pm

I have been noticing this as well, I only have been noticing this recently though. I still haven't received an email for a PM that I received two days ago :(

Omniscient - June 22, 2018, 2:32 pm

Sorry, I need to deal with this still.

Omniscient - June 23, 2018, 3:05 pm

Just took a peek at our email provider and it all appears normal with no queue involved. The delay could potentially be your provider. I suggest you whitelist our email "mailer@"+our domain.

Linux. - June 23, 2018, 4:03 pm

(Jun 23, 2018 03:05 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Just took a peek at our email provider and it all appears normal with no queue involved. The delay could potentially be your provider. I suggest you whitelist our email "mailer@"+our domain.

My provider is Google, I don't think there would be a problem. I've never had this happen before, it's weird they come in days later. Not spam, not slightly delayed, but large chunks of time difference. Maybe MyBB is queueing?

.Bus - June 23, 2018, 4:20 pm

(Jun 23, 2018 04:03 PM)Linux. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My provider is Google, I don't think there would be a problem. I've never had this happen before, it's weird they come in days later. Not spam, not slightly delayed, but large chunks of time difference. Maybe MyBB is queueing?

Yeah, there are a lot of people from various providers complaining about this. I get the emails with 3-5 day delay with Gmail even after adding the email as contacts to prevent any spam filter issues, which is annoying so I just blocked the emails altogether.

Hydra - June 23, 2018, 9:38 pm

(Jun 23, 2018 03:05 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Just took a peek at our email provider and it all appears normal with no queue involved. The delay could potentially be your provider. I suggest you whitelist our email "mailer@"+our domain.

Haven't touched any Gmail settings and I used to get emails within minutes, now it takes multiple days.

A PM I got on 6/19 3:05 AM, I got an email notifying me today, 6/23 7:50 AM.

I've been using email notifications for a long time and it works wonders when it was within minutes. I hope this can get resolved.

Another thing I noticed in your post is you said "mailer@" but I'm getting emails from "DoNotReply@". And when I did a "from:mailer@" search, seems like all those emails were the timely ones. "DoNotReply@" has been delayed for about two months (ballpark estimate). The delay varies and using a PM convo email chain as an example...

Reply 1 received 5/31 7:06 PM

Email 1 received 6/1 12:20 AM

Reply 2 received 5/31 11:18 PM

Email 2 received 6/1 1:45 AM

Reply 3 received 5/31 11:29 PM

Email 3 received 6/1 1:47 AM

I hope that helps.