Anon?M ID - June 22, 2018, 12:44 pm

hello guys ?

It's been like a month since the first time I found and watched ASMR videos on youtube. for those who don't know ASMR,

Autonomous sensory meridian response (ASMR) is a term used for an experience characterized by a static-like or tingling sensation on the skin that typically begins on the scalp and moves down the back of the neck and upper spine this is kinda weird, but I can't stop listening and watching these kind of video. am I need help or this is just normal?

Nothing wrong with you it's what wrong with the people that's all

Cylow - June 22, 2018, 12:48 pm

I find it weird and it doesn't make me feel anything but there are tens of thousands of hours of ASMR content and some of my friends like it, so I'd say it's normal.

I love ASMR. It calms me down. Not in to eating or anything though. Just crackling noises.

Casp?r - June 23, 2018, 3:23 am

Tbh I can't stand asmr, but I don't mind watching a mukbang (eating video) where it is just a chill conversation.

ASMR is a tingling sensation that can be felt which starts from back of your neck, travels across your scalp, and moves downward, following the line of your spine. Some people feel it in their shoulders, limbs, and lower back, too. You can experience ASMR getting a haircut, being treated by a doctor, watching someone paint skillfully, hearing someone whisper, or listening to crinkling sounds — the triggers are endless and vary from person to person.

Some people loves to watch those ASMR videos because they are really brought relaxing and joyful experiences as you may experience in the real world. As for me, I love to eat all delicious food. So when I watch people having the food I have never seen before, I will get enjoyable sensation. Below is one of those ASMR videos made by “Yuer ASMR” that makes me enjoy it.
