

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: How do I password protect my website?

Fear - June 29, 2018, 4:40 pm

Let's say that I have website example.com and when people go there it asks for a password and when you type it you get redirected to example.com/private so how can I do this?

? Soufian ? - June 29, 2018, 4:42 pm

Did you even take the time to Google it up before asking here?

<https://www.formget.com/login-form-in-php/>

tweety - June 29, 2018, 4:43 pm

can literally directory lock

Fear - June 29, 2018, 4:57 pm

(Jun 29, 2018 04:42 PM)? Soufian ? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Did you even take the time to Google it up before asking here?

<https://www.formget.com/login-form-in-php/>

I have no idea what that means (I don't know much about php) so I just need simple script to do this with password only option.

Nov - July 1, 2018, 12:20 pm

There are many scripts available. Look on <https://codecanyon.net/>

Mr Fox - July 1, 2018, 1:14 pm

just use a session variable in PHP with either a preset password on the backend or link it to a mysql db

tweety - July 1, 2018, 1:20 pm

im assuming you have a cpanel