Thread: Influence | Recruitment #5 | Official Group

Makaveli The Don - July 3, 2018, 12:03 pm

"Always speak politely to an enraged Dragon. –Steven Brust"

Welcome to our fifth official recruitment thread! This recruitment is a special one. As some of you may or may not know, Influence celebrated its 1-year anniversary 16 days ago. With that being said, we rebranded the group's graphics to a more modern but original look, and we thought that it is time again to open the doors to new members. Our public requirements are few and include having no open/unresolved disputes, being social and open-minded, and having a general understanding of how Hack Forums' groups work. Other requirements are undisclosed.

If you believe that you can be a good addition to our group, please follow the link below:
Influence Recruitment

Once you've submitted your application, post below to confirm.

That is all. If you have any questions, please leave them below. Good luck! ?

Thread has been open for only 4 days. I read the applications as they come through but final decisions on acceptances/denials is still yet to be made. What will probably happen is that we'll start accepting as we review in-depth, starting from tomorrow or Monday. Recruitment will still be open during that time.

I've submitted an application. Thank you very much the Group image looks sick!Hope to get accepted

ama - July 12, 2018, 7:10 pm

Just applied.

Thanks for the chance to be apart of such an amazing group, I'm looking to only join one group at the moment to join in active discussions and such. This group looks perfect!

I've been very sick lately but I'm starting to recover, so I'll be going over the applications again soon. Good luck to everyone!

I've read the application requirements and rules, I've applied and would be very surprised to get accepted but it was worth a shot. Just one thing tho, I was scratching my head thru the entire application process... What exactly is the theme of the group? I would have a better idea if I fit the group or not if I knew what the premise of it was.

SHAMELESS EDIT: forgot to say thanks for the opportunity

Edit2: According to the usercp group page, in order to join a group I have to be a an upgraded member. I don't have an issue spending a few bucks on an upgrade but I dont exactly need it for anything else besides the group application. Would it be possible to get accepted to a group before upgrading? It would be a waste of a few grams if I upgrade and get declined rip.

Last_viking - July 13, 2018, 2:40 pm

Submitted the application

Really keen to wear that sexy userbar

Thank you for this opportunity

You could search for the informational thread we have. Also, its not necessary to upgrade to join a group unless the group specifically recruits upgraded members. Sending invite requests was disabled from regulars but leaders can still add you from the group panel.

Your specific application, No. And I've been very sick lately with summer flu which is nasty in addition to the heat so I don't have strength to do much lately. I'll most likely get back to reviewing the applications by Monday.

Confirmed does not mean accepted. Just think please, use the noodles.
It literally means confirmed your entry.
