Thank You Thank You Brother. I can't handle with another lawsuit because what if at the end they do nothing and what if they sue me back ?

Why would they sue you when you pay for a package that they don't service you for?

Because I'm afraid that when I buy collision + Uninsured and under insured motorist coverage package they told me that this will coverage anything accident collision stuff but now when I tell them they are telling me that you don't have collision package which I already have and they never helped me at all. now they are telling me that collision package will just cover injuries. I'm a student can't handle that much pressure one after the another one I don't have much support at my back.

How during a TA (Traffic Accident) does someone have time to steal anything .. and the first TA was just a forgone conclusion soon as I see that no insurance .. etc I figure okay I am fucked because that is what it is in the legal system. USAA if you are a vet or parent is a vet is pretty good, State Farm is not bad either.

As I said I was working and my car was parked in the parking of mall (where I work) and you know malls are very busy and very noisy. My car was already damaged, I couldn't fix it because I didn't have enough money to fix it so I wait for the court date. My trunk was half closed the trunk with those hard duck tapes so it will stay closed for until the court date.

sorry I didn't explain this part. (I forgot)

Oh wow, yeah man duct tape wouldn't be anywhere near secure, I don't believe in thievery, like I don't respect thieves and always assume that if something is valuable to me it needs to be protected/safeguarded. I am not sure if insurance would take care of that in respects to replacement ..etc because it's like having a convertible and putting a laptop on the backseat and having the top down, the owner didn't take appropriate measures. That said the Police I am sure were contacted speakers probably at some point will be sold online be it by the actual thief or a purchaser who can lead to the thief.

I did not put my stuff in trunk I put it inside of the car but they broke the little thing in the trunk they got in the car because its easy to get in the from trunk and I already fixed the breaks lights before this accident I paid it from my own pocket. i dont know what to say anymore.
