

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Howdy Neighbours!

psychoman - July 8, 2018, 8:27 pm

Just wanna say hello to everyone and introduce myself a little.

Im from Latin America, 34 yo looking to improve myself in hacking (not the cute CEH stuff, but the real stuff that goes on behind the curtains). Im usually part of blue teams since I work with IT for about 14 years now. If you need help on Active Directory, PCI, datacenter infrastructure, hypervisors and etc, I can help (or at least try very hard :))

Im here to learn, thats my goal. Being a sysadmin my entire life, my programming skills consist of powershell and shell scripting mostly, so I can read code and change it in any high-level language, but Im a dumbass on writing my own. Tools are great, sure, but the ninja teachings of how to move silently, how to deceive and fly right under someones nose, oh thats the gold right there.

Im 100% on sharing information and I will share what I know (if it doesnt hurt anyone elses terms, tools or businesses).

Also, I do know that my username was being used here before. If this username is important to you, please let me know and I can change it, but keep in mind Im NOT THE FORMER psychoman of HF.

Looking forward to have HF as friends and partners.

Cheers!

? ? ?