FAQ:

- > How do I deposit bytes?

Simple, click on my bytes (under my reputation). From there, you can deposit bytes (minimum. 50 bytes) and within your "reason of donating", make sure to put your poker username in. As an example, if I were to donate 100 bytes, in the reason I would put "Username: Stratify". Deposits are done within 24 hours or less.

> How do I withdraw bytes?

Message me with this template. Be sure to withdraw 50 bytes or more. Minimum withdrawal is 50 bytes.

"[WITHDRAWAL]

Amount : xxxx"

Withdrawals are normally done within 24 hours or less.

> Can I use a fake email?

Yes. If you need a password reset, PM me.

> Does my username require to be the same on HF than it is on the Poker Site?

Yes. Please make sure your name on BytesPoker is the same as on HF, this clears any confusion. If not, your account may be deleted, as well as any bytes on the account.

> What is the rake %s?

Rake used is the standard casino rakes, in both tournaments and ring games.

They are used to fund the server + software.

This would be cool if the HF API team would implement OAuth instead of risking your secret API key to be able to read and transfer bytes using the HF API if available in v2.

I might not implement automatic byte transfers. Someone'll find a way to exploit it and also I like to keep track of shit.

I think you mean the blackhat award? BH is not my thing at all.

Why haven't you ever gambled? It's pretty fun (in moderation). I didn't understand Blackjack at all at first, I think I was over complicating things but it's quite simple to play and definitely my favourite game.

Here's a good practice site for fake money:

Just look up a guide on how to play ?

spending your time somewhere else to learn a skill/trade or get money. Time is very limited, money is not.

So let me get this straight, you built this bytespoker.com, and the first tournament you finished in 1st place. Out of curiosity, can't you actually see other's people hands if you control the server. I would love to join, but I'm kinda not feeling comfortable when you are playing there while at the same time owning the server.

This is a great concept, but like the other user has said, don't you think people would think it's a little bit rigged?

I thought about this, it was lucky that I won the first tournament, I admit it seems a little dodgy.

1. No, I can't see the other players hands. You can see the software I use at <https://www.briggsoft.com/pmavens.htm>.

2. If players wish, I just won't play.
3. I control the server, but the hands are randomised and there is no way in which I can see any of the hands. I can show my admin panel if you wish.
4. Why would I cheat for bytes?

It is Texas Hold'em. There are two types. Limits and No Limits.

NL (No Limits) means that the user can raise any amount. Limit Hold'em is when they can only raise up to the pot.

"In pot-limit hold 'em, the maximum raise is the current size of the pot (including the amount needed to call)."

It's simply the regular Texas Hold'em.

As an active poker player I would love to see this remain a thing. The tournament idea is great. I really wish this could be implemented to hackforums as like a lobby you could join and sit down at cash games on the forum. It would be cool if omni were to be open to that in the future. Anyway, I hope to see this open again sometime soon. Cheers.
