I'm an IT technician at a local firm called Palafox Computers in Pensacola, FL as well as an Amazon Sell Service Technician. I also pick up some shifts at Chili's lol. I've made some pretty rough decisions in life and I'm dealing with the repercussions of them presently. All I can say is always make sure that your employer hasn't scammed you into a 10/99 form and you didn't know you had to pay 12% in taxes because you were "self employed."

Imfaoooo. all of us chiliheads do that. I only pick up like one shift out of the month so I really don't work there. I used to work there a while back and they didn't want me to pursue my dreams.
