

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Dedicated/VPS/Reseller/Shared Hosting

Host - July 15, 2018, 8:58 am

I am just curious, is offering a new hosting service to this forum worth it? As in will it be a smart decision... I notice theirs a few top hosting companies on here that I know I can't compete with since my servers aren't offshore and follows the US government law. I guess i'm trying to figure out is their any users that do not need offshore hosting that is running a legitimate website or any source that follow the US government law.

No website right now, right now I am working on the main website and straightening out a financial plan.

Sickness - July 15, 2018, 2:30 pm

(Jul 15, 2018 08:58 AM)Trappeng Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I am just curious, is offering a new hosting service to this forum worth it? As in will it be a smart decision... I notice theirs a few top hosting companies on here that I know I can't compete with since my servers aren't offshore and follows the US government law. I guess i'm trying to figure out is their any users that do not need offshore hosting that is running a legitimate website or any source that follow the US government law.

No website right now, right now I am working on the main website and straightening out a financial plan.

I think you dont lose anything by trying.

Noisy - July 15, 2018, 11:56 pm

If you're going to open a hosting site anyways, you may as well advertise here if you wish, however majority of the users here do prefer cheap off-shore hosting.

Host - July 16, 2018, 3:44 pm

Thanks for the advice guys