With support for custom configurations (configs) and keywords for the email-checker, this allows SNIPR to live on forever by the help of its community.

There is a public repository (Public-Repo) that ANY SNIPR owner can upload their configs to, instantly sharing with the world directly inside SNIPR!

I have this and its defiantly my favorite checker out of everything I have used, most of the modules are VERY fast, I haven't had it crash once and I've had it running for about 48 hours non stop. I purchased using an amazon gift card and received my code within about 20 minutes. Haven't had any issues at all so far, performance is solid, modules are solid. If you are looking for a cracker this should be your go to. Especially for $20.

Any substance to the claim this cracker has a Monero miner built in?

(Jul 19, 2018 03:04 AM)?Arrow-? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Any substance to the claim this cracker has a Monero miner built in?

That's a common mis-conception about SNIPR going around a lot.

The Trial Version of SNIPR about 6-7 months ago that I had going for a few days before killing it off, had a Free Trial Period option, where in return, it would use Coin-Hive on the lowest possible settings while you use it.

The paid versions used to also have it in the code, but 100% disabled until it detects definite signs of being a cracked version.

Shadow (PC-RET) used the Trial Version of SNIPR and patched out the code.

The Coin-Hive was disclosed publicly when the trial was a thing.

People just spread false info, resulting in you even having to ask me if SNIPR mines.

Great tool, have been using it since 2017 and during discord times. PRAGMA keeps constant updates released to it from day 1 onward (Pragmatic tool) to this Masterpiece . Making config for this tool is like so fucking easy, i've basically made tons of profit by help of this tool no kidding. its way worth 15$ - 20$ to buy this tool. As you get a lot of configs and custom configs along with it. Most bugs gets fixed in a day or two.. and new features constantly added. And the supports real good honestly as he is a one man team, there might be delay but thats understandable :D . Bought 2 licence and no issue so far. Happy with the product 10/10 .

I've purchased Snipr about 6 months ago, its well worth the money. For the combo-tools alone its worth it. I use them everyday. But fortunately everything just works! And it works really well. Snipr checks very very fast, and the way the software is presented just looks and feels two steps ahead of competition. If I could choose one tool to use, its without a doubt this one. It may sound a bit like TelSel but I really do think it is the best tool to buy.

Feature is unnecessary, as ive explained before, there is no website that actually updates proxies every few hours.

Even if they do, its the same pool of proxies, so your not going to have new/different proxies.

- save unchecked combo

Already a thing, right click save button before you stop checking.

- auto save hit on Documents

Hits automatically store to History, having it automatically save as a file is very bad for speed and HDD speeds and errors can deadlock SNIPR if I were to do so.

I doubt it. I wrote a week and a half ago to him telling him I tested a combo with 30k (over 1k hits on @free.fr and stuff like that on redeyes mail checker) Saying that the checker didn't work. He said my combo was bad and stopped answering lol. I've tried many combos over the past week and none work.

is it cracking gmail/hotmails with imap functions?

(Sep 21, 2018 01:27 AM)Jdutchman121 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) is it cracking gmail/hotmails with imap functions?

It supports it but Gmail has its own system and basically disables IMAP access unless you use a "app password" so chances of getting into one are low even if right password.

Hotmail should be fine though

I'm pretty knowledgeable on the subject, and not a total retard so I should be able to get it down with a bit of help.

I knew about the page for the login but it seems to require filesystem access for storing stuff which I dont know how to find or debug. It also seems to use WebSockets to send and receive data which last I checked was around 40-50 chars of random bytes back and forth 10+ times.

So I dont rllly know enough of what its doing to be able to get that working.

So I dont rllly know enough of what its doing to be able to get that working.You're correct about it requiring access to store files, and you bring up a good point about pathing. My assumption was that it'd default to my system for storage, but there's no way to be sure without trying it out. I'll give it a look this weekend when I get some free time.
