Thread: I'm planning on starting e-whoring. But my parents kind of get in the way

JonesWithBones - July 17, 2018, 4:44 pm

I don't know if this is the best place to post this, so sorry if it's not

I'm a teen. E-whoring seems like a good opportunity to make money, but I'm worried about my parents.

Ironically, the problem is that I'm very good friends with them. They know me very well, and I know them very well. If I were to lie, I'd need something I can back up. They are always curious about what I'm doing, so I can't get away with just a simple story like "I'm helping people study", or "I'm designing websites" (answers I found on other posts dealing with the same problem) Are there any other ways of making money, that I could use as a cover for e-whoring? (or in the worst case instead of e-whoring)

Or plan B would be to put my business skills to use, pile up a lot of money from E-whoring over the course of a few months, give them like a 15-20% cut, and tell them what's up. That way, even if they don't let me continue, I walk away with a big profit.

I know it's dependant on parents, but do you think that could work?

I don't think any parent is game with their teenage boy looking at dick pics and sending dirty texts over the internet for money. You are the only one who knows your parents and knows what will or will not work. Find a cover story.

If you play videogames a great cover is to say that youve been competing in tournaments or you won a giveaway or something of the sort for amazon vouchers.

hey dude ? don't do it.

If u want earn much money first go to school, study and in future get a job.

Peace ?

Edit: if u don't have a brain to trick your parents, you will not earn much

Peace ?

I'm planning to go to college, and get a well paying job. We're also planning to save up money, so I can start living on my own easier. I'm well set for the future, I just need some fast cash now

Yeah that's why I was asking for advice on covering for myself. It's a lot of commitment, and I won't waste my time on learning something I won't be able to use ever.

sorry but I really do not want to get involved in doing this.
it's not a game it is illegal and risky
i can say only look tutorials on this forum

make a shopify store, and buy your own products from your store, or make a rocketr account and sell an "ebook" and write a ebook up of like social media followings(so you can show them) and say you are making a little bit of cash..

I'll think about this more tomorrow, it's late at night here. I'm just very impulsive, and I tend to get really hooked onto things I find intersting. I just found out about this method a few hours ago and read up on it. Most possibly I'll find something more acceptable/less risky, I'll just have to wait until the excitement dies out. It has already started, I'm thinking a bit more clearly.

Thanks for the help ? ?

This has been said before but I feel like telling your parents what your doing is going to be a bad idea...

SIM-3627838 - July 17, 2018, 6:09 pm

Dont tell your parents what you're doing wtf nigga Lmfao

"Hey mom and dad, I'm catfishing online and selling a random girl's nudes for money!"

Compulsive - July 17, 2018, 6:10 pm

Do what I said and youll be fine

I don't think making old horny men give you paypal money is illegal. I could be wrong but I don't think the feds are going to be busting down your door any time soon. I just think OP would be using the money for the wrong reasons. Although saving up e-whore money for college and higher education is fine and dandy, I myself have stumbled on the thought. But uni is pricey and people will wonder where the money came from.

I would just go with the csgo trading explanation as it was mentioned in another thread with a similar problem. Don't make a big deal out of it. Find sensationalist articles that say say how much money people make etc. Make sure you actually have the game, preferably with some hours on it. You can have a friend use your account or just rack up hours by whatever method works. If you can't then say the trading part of the game doesn't count as in game hours.

It would totally work on me. If you assure them you don't sell drugs you're good.

Also they are not your friends it's a strategy to get intel out of you by guilt tripping. Kids buy it for whatever reason.

So many threads like this... People get around the IRS no problem but mention parents and total freak out. We need a separate thread for this with working excuses and explanations.
