How does anyone in the right mind pay so much for cheats?

Chiefman - July 18, 2018, 7:59 pm

No box esp on fortmememe? Lol.

Vanilla - July 18, 2018, 8:01 pm

Can I show this off on YouTube if I buy this?

Also, does the Intel restriction have to do with you using Assembly?

FRI?DBAO™ - July 18, 2018, 8:07 pm

affordable? 150 a week? alrightt

OneEightSeven - July 18, 2018, 8:17 pm

Interesting. Going to wait for more vouches and stuff to gather in. Interested in that rust cheat

XzoRcisT - July 18, 2018, 8:21 pm

Stream proof? Explain this in detail.

But yeah prices are a bit overkill, good luck with your sales though.

Looking forward to reading some reviews.

Does the Rust cheat include HWID spoofing? Also, do you have a vid demo of this cheat in action?

Because solution against anticheat is highly hardware dependent

You know when you imagine something and then in reality you get something slightly worse?

Well, this hack takes your imagination and then proceeds to fuck it in the ass.

Not only will you not get a refund after having two extremely unusual and purposefully hidden requirements. (Windows 10 pro and a Intel processor)

But you will also need to:

- Edit 2 things in your BIOS
- Disable windows defender completely and uninstall all antivirus programs
- Change your startup protocol in MSConfig
- Change a bunch of other crap in the windows settings
- Reinstall your windows ISO completely
- Download rufus and run the hack via an USB

And that's just some of the things you have to do before you're allowed to contact the support.

And after that you'll have a decent looking ESP that crashes every 5 minutes for the low price of 150$ a month.

In conclusion: I'd rather get scammed than to get this hack, not kidding.

Some of the support are however somewhat nice, the rest are a bunch of moneyhungry sociopaths.

UPDATE: The 100% UD cheat just got detected within the first week.

It wouldn't surprise me if they just copy pasted the hack from the net just to save themselves some time before bailing.

Multiple confirmed bans at once and they still said that it was 100% UD, they're going full AJ

My previous 3 purchases of these so called "Private software" has been the best buys i've ever had.

The rust fake pop + community list exploit plugin was 10 times better than what i imagined, the PUBG esp that i had for a month for 50$ worked smoothly with no bans whatsoever.

I even got better at playing the game without hacks after that month was over. Then there was this Dayz standalone noclip that i completely got away with aswell which costed like 20 USD.

Pretty much every hack that i've had for the past 3 years has been good until this one.

EDIT:

Anyhow, lesson learned. Never buy hacks from a website again.
Only from trusted users from now on.

I am not saying all of them are going to be a scam as some people just break it out to you what its gonna be like. But if you see a publicly sold hack advertised as private you gotta know somethings up. And as for trusted users i believe op is what one would call trusted on hf(could be wrong as i have no idea about hf other than cs section).

@FPSgamer, thank you for your review.

Sucks you had to be the one to bite the bullet, I'm sure we all appreciate your honest review.

If not a full refund, I'm hoping they at least compensate you with something.

I myself do have windows 10 with intel, but I cannot pay this ridiculous price they're asking.

Lastly, let's not bash @NBAYB please keep in mind he's only a reseller.

Hey man. Appreciate your honest review. If you're talking about the Fortnite cheats, the Discord server gave all information on how to prevent the ban. It wasn't an actual ban on your account, but rather some sort of issue with BE and the loader (it was just updated today). Could you go ahead and see if you are still getting kicked from the bus? I'm unsure who told you to do all those steps, but I don't think all of that was necessary. Take a look at the troubleshooting steps on the forum and let me know if you still get kicked from the bus. Again, it is undetected, but there were bus kicks from BE and no bus kicks happened via EAC.

Sorry about your horrible experience. If I could help out more, I would, but I'm just a reseller and not a dev/admin so I actually do apologize about that and I'm willing to step forward in support if the devs aren't.

Also wanted to add that I've been using the Fortnite level 2 aimbot and haven't received one bus kick. No ones accounts have been banned either from the bus kick and it is a rather simple fix. Unfortunate you couldn't get it working, but PM me your Hypercheats username and I'll assist you on there and report back here with an update if you'd like?

While this user himself might not be scamming or know who he is working with, the hypercheats team is a sketchy group of resellers. They used to go by epicmemes before suddenly advertising hypercheats and closing their discord without compensating any of their customers that paid $350 for one month. They proceeded to reopen as hypercheats.gg. Clearly the same thing has happened and another cheat will probably pop up with these same features soon. I advise you not to buy it.

Back online! They were also testing the Fortnite cheat due to all the commotion about bus kicks, etc. and they got 0 bans within the downtime.

Follow the troubleshooting guides properly and you will be fine

Vitaly - July 23, 2018, 1:39 pm

I bought a week of level 2 fortnite.

My experience:

After buying the cheat, it was easy to get running. Changing a small thing in the BIOS and it was up and running, the cheat itself works great and i had no issues with the cheat.

However about a day or two later it clearly got detected, people (including myself) were getting buskicked and then the next day everyone got banned, you have to reformat to get unbanned and for the HWID spoofer to work again, this didn't work for me and a couple other people and the support staff are complete idiots and refuse to help saying "it must be something your doing wrong" and won't help with the issues.

Probably won't be using the rest of my weeks subscription due to the staffs inability to help their customers

Cheat - 10/10 (Function wise, obviously it got detected so take that to consideration)

Staff & support - 4/10

I mean, I haven't been banned from it, and multiple users haven't either. I'm not gonna lie and say users aren't getting bus kicked and needing to reformat, but from the looks of it, all users who got bus kicked didn't follow any trouble shooting guides or read the getting started topic. Not trying to get anyone banned at all, nor do I want that to happen to anyone, but I vouch for them as I haven't had any issues which is why I'm reselling.

Unsure why you're calling me a retard. Talk like a normal human being.
