Thread: [\[FREE\] MadUSB - A Smart Way For USB Spreading || USB hijacking](#)

NYANxCAT - July 20, 2018, 1:16 pm

MadUSB

Spreading overall USB drivers silently. In the same time, MadUSB will clone itself as the USB's legit applications by "hijacking" icons even the folders icons. When the user clicks on any file on the USB, both Payload and the legit application will be running in same time.

Yeah I know, for this week I shared my sources for the community, a LimeRAT Lite + BasicCrypter + LimeCrypter + MadUSB

I hope you all like it.

Thanks for your support

I don't recommend anyone run this file on your main PC. It writes something deep into the system. A system restore was unsuccessful because all restore points were shut down. Otherwise it seems to do what OP says, it turns all files into executable files. However, it then did not know how to run the payload. The system asked which program I wanted to use :-) So no success.

No matter who wants to try this thing, please use the second or better third computer.

Lol, you ran this in your main pc? but it's ok because it only harms your USB driver, not ur Local drivers. however, I tested and it's working.

these weird things you said "system restore" and "It writes something deep into the system" it's from your imagination m8, cya

PS. use dnspy

Edit: Wait, are you using the restore point to restore your USB files? lol, however, if you analysis the code you will notice that your USB files are SAFE and hidden in your USB.

Try it on Vmware with a USB. It will spread fast americanpal - July 28, 2018, 1:21 am

I mean what will spread fast? Keylogger or spyware or virus?

Troop - July 28, 2018, 1:31 am

Thank you sir. I will + rep you for this.
