I've been in a car that was drifting, but I'd never attempt it myself.

I love it when guys on forums posts videos and pictures of cars and I'm like...

In my country we have so many taxes, so a car that costs let's say 459.352 USD, would cost 1.285.162 USD in my country, because of VAT, and registration fee.

That means you literally would have been near crashing a 220K car if it was Danish. ?
