Coursera is a online platform where there are various courses created by various top universities and professors. So basically these course cost 50$+ if you want the course with certificates and value of these digital courses increases day by day, it can't land you directly to a job but the amount content in these courses are very good because it's created by top universities such as MIT etc. coursera is the bridge between all these universities and us. You can learn various courses from various fields..ex there course for video editing ,ethical hacking etc....coursera also provide specialisation course which has 4 to 5 courses together..these can help you to get deep knowledge in your field of interest

Hope this helps :)

Also, is this just access to the course and we take the certificate? Or does the certificate come with this service?
