So what are your thoughts around Disney owning literally everything - turning the entire 'empire' into child friendly shit as it will hurt the 'disney' name otherwise.

I personally think Disney are disgusting for doing this.

I dont know, Im crossed, they fucked Star wars up....

I mean usually I love disney, I got a massive collection of the original good stuff, Pirates was good, but IDK, its getting shaky now, I think they are expanding too quickly and trying to absorb too much while loosing focus of what they were intended as, Family entertainment.

Disney was never intended as family entertainment, they just wanted to make cartoons/movies based on other peoples work (Brothers Grimm as an example) obviously their shit at the time couldn't be shown on TV.
