Thread: Which control panel works best?

Bear - July 26, 2018, 11:44 pm

I know cPanel is the best but I am trying to find a control panel which is free and works great with wordpress. Any ideas?

Uh cPanel is to do with managing your hosting and has nothing to do with managing Wordpress. So you could use anything...

Yeah, but I want to know which other open source panels work best with php. Wordpress is php.

Your query is not clear to me, however if your looking for Open Source control panel as an alternate to cPanel then i would suggest ISPConfig Hosting Control Panel

Control panel is for hosting not for WordPress.

Plus, Control panel is just a UI, the host configuration (RAM, CPU, etc.) is the critical part.

Focus on the config, WordPress needs a better config in the host, not a better control panel.

All the best.

If you get your own VPS then webmin and virtualmin work, combined with matomo and you have a fully functioning webserver and analytics
