Thread: Looking for an experienced Shopify user to mentor me

I've seen some very impressive success stories on HF regarding Shopify and to cut a long story short, I want in on the action.

I am looking for an experienced Shopify user to mentor me into getting my first venture started.

You must be willing to accept payment from the money that is made via the Shopify store we create and we can agree to a price via private messages.

If you feel up for the challenge or you simply enjoy helping people please hit me up. It'd be great if you could tell me about your past Shopify ventures too.

I'm in the same path as you are mate, i wish you good luck and hoping that somebody will help you out.

I take the risk of learning everything myself cause i know that the chance that somebody will help is like 1 in a million lmao.
