Frequently asked questions

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Quote:Q) How long does the FUD last?

A) It depends on how much you use the file, every generated output is vastly different to the last. So if you use the file properly then it should stay FUD for a very long time.

Q) How often will you Re-FUD?

A) Getting a detection on the output should be very rare, but as soon as I find out there is a detection I will try and push a update within 24 hours.

Q) What software do you support the crypting of?

A) Ramses supports almost every native and .net file, it should work fine with almost anything.

Q) Who is the coder?

A) I am the coder, I have spent many years working on crypters and I have become very good at what I do.

Hi, what is the stub coded on ? The size of the output ? An do you remove ring 3 hook ? (Just asking bc i don't see this informations on the thread)

Thx for your time and GLWS ?

Thx for your time and GLWS ?

It is coded in AutoIT with some shellcode in C.

Size depends on the stub size of AutoIT, which changes version to version. and what you are crypting.

Ring-3 hook is bypassed by manually mapping ntdll.

Is the output native or .net? Your thread design seems oddly similar to Adderall Crypter.

It works with Quasar, yes. I have not tried Orcus but I would assume it would work fine with that also.

Working on runtime videos, will post them soon.

This crypter seems like Cyber Seal; you changed the interface and name!

This criminal rip off members including me in this forum and runaway.

I bought a Lifetime package and within 2 weeks he is gone.

Just now i tried to run the crypter and can you see the reason he gave for banning my account :

I am truly disappointed in this, I guess all the above vouch are fake if not where did they bought this crypter to have tested it so as to give so much trusted vouch.

Return my money, If you don't want your Ass to be exposed!

Hi, Cyber seal and this crypter are not alike in any way.

They are not even written in the same programming language.

The thread design and GUI are also not similar in any way.

I am not associated with Cyber Coder or any of his products.

Your accusations are simply outrageous and wrong.

This post has been reported for sales trashing.

Very nice crypt. Only got 2/35 detections ... no detections at all from the main 25 AVs (using the same scanner as the seller: antiscan.me)

Not sure how to bring it down to 0/35 ... any guides on best build?

EDIT: flawless executions so far ... bravo, Sir!. Bravo ...
