Hello,

I am wondering if reportbot still works?

And can someone recommend me an reportbot i can set up myself?

A Valve employee addressed this a few months back.

Not sure but every cheater I have reportbotted has been banned within 4 hours of submitting it, even when they didn't go as blatant as someone I did not reportbot and they get away with it.

And they still work, same goes for commendations ?

Just a straight up lie, he said that 4 months ago and that he fixed reportbot a year ago.

We tested it with vertigoboot, 1 player full snappy aimbot but only 12 kills, following people through wall.

Was a fresh account, has not seen anything other then vertigo boost and had not problems for around 20 matches and when we tested it by reportbotting the account it was banned within a day.

What they did do is the change the mechanics of it, it is not that if you report a player in match "X" that he will get into overwatch with a replay of match "X".

He could be flagged and goes to overwatch for next match "Y", however if the player then decides to not play for 24/48 hours he could be save as the reports will probably "reset" within that/certain timespan.

Therefore some reportbots have the option to keep reporting a player for a second time and third time so he will eventually slip up and get into overwatch que.

Is there any working reportbot script me and my friend can just put log in info for accounts?

I checked askwrite and vapor report, but those seems really old. 2 years since update on github

Stop posting and seek a psychiatrist if you are dumb enough to believe what valve says.
