Thread: [What is the Best Antivirus 2018 \[Pro License\]?](#)

SIM-3795472 - August 10, 2018, 9:12 am

I want to purchase a pro version of a antivirus software. I'm currently using Avira Free Version, but I don't know if Avira Prime will do the job.

I've never actually bought a pro antivirus software, so if any of you have any experience to share with me, feel free to do so.

Avira really sucks.... I highly suggest Bitdefender, Norton or F-Secure. They are the three best and biggest anti-virus protection programs.

ESET, Bitdefender or Kaspersky.

Thanks. I just bought a one-year subscription to BitDefender. We'll see the results.

Why does Avira suck? It's one of the top rated antiviruses German technology. At least state why it sucks. To my knowledge its also hard to bypass.

Are you really recommending Norton? Now I know you are clueless.

I have ESET Internet Security and it works nicely with little bit of care on your side ESET antivirus software will help you defend against malware infections.

I have use ESET for a long time, and I should say that NOD32 have the best heuristic engine
