Thread: Division by zero

Truth3356 - August 10, 2018, 10:17 am

i keep getting this error :

Division by zero (E_WARNING) /var/www/html/Panel/five/wPAIANY/page/data.inc.php (86 line)

My code still works , i just want to know how i can fix this Quote:A division by zero error can occur in PHP whenever:

The variable you're dividing with has been set to zero (this number is called the divisor).

The variable you're dividing with has been set to null.

The variable does not exist. i.e. It has not been set.

I can't really help without seeing the code, but it is probably due to one of the above reasons.

In general, you can use an if statement to not let your code run until a variable has been set, maybe this can help you:

```
Code if(isset($yourVariableCausingProblems)) {
    // Your Code
}
```

or even this:

```
Code if($yourVariableCausingProblems > 0) {
    // Your Code

With pastebin first of all make sure it's public so everybody can see it.

Secondly use these tags in your post here so it can embed the code into your post!
