Thread: Have 6 hours to do 10 hours of work

yrnGarry - August 10, 2018, 8:24 pm

Been working on this guys website here and there, and I have about 9 hours left. A little bit of final touches to the backend, as well as redoing the front end because when I'm doing the backend I use some temporary trash. The problem is he wants it done by 6 am, and I have no fucking motivation to do it. Someone motivate me, thanks.

The first step is to stop posting on HackForums, and finish the darn project!

Just think about the money, it gives you a stiffy, correct? <3

GloryToBe - August 10, 2018, 8:30 pm

Think about the money you'll earn so it'll be worth it lol

falkenburry - August 10, 2018, 8:30 pm

Still don't feel like getting out of bed to type up some boring html and css for hours straight.

oRequiem - August 10, 2018, 8:31 pm

You might as well grind it out dude, you'll just end up regretting it later since he gave you a specific time for the completion.

Just go for it man.

EDIT: If you have multiple monitors, you could watch a movie while doing what you gotta do, that's what I do sometimes when I'm working on customers' requests.

By "he wants it done by 6am" I told him I would have it done when he woke up tomorrow.

Might refund him for my precious sleep.

In that case, go to sleep, sleep is the best.

If a client is pissing me off with stupid deadlines, I usually like to just give him an excuse, and take a nap. ?

Na man, money is money. You'll regret it after your sleep. Just grind it out and you'll defiantly be glad later on that you completed it.

Fuck a refund, tell that whore that he is going to listen to "There He Go" on repeat for the next 24 to 48 hours, while his erection subsides.

Listen to some music. That usually helps you focus and get the job done.

yrnGarry - August 10, 2018, 8:40 pm

Back to the grind, I guess. <https://imgur.com/a/FmaJ0ZI>

Keep us updated, and show us how the site looks if you are not under an NDA! ?

If you are interested, and your work is good, I might have a landing page for you to do, off of a PSD template. <3

Stop being a pussy and finish the project. You've been half-assing your entire life. LET'S DO THIS!

Heres a mockup I made that I will work off of.

I personally wouldn't go off of this design for the landing page, but whatever the client wants I guess.

Exactly, great mindset right here OP.
Money is more important than sleep right now. You can make up that sleep after.
