

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Reputations color change?

JUAN9087™ - August 12, 2018, 11:18 pm

Can we get a color change to the normal reputation(maybe blue or purple idk), so people don't get confused about it with the market place reputations.

I also think it reputations should really get a second thought if its really necessary (since in my opinion they are kinda useless now) and are just confusing new members

TB12 - August 12, 2018, 11:30 pm

The reputation page clearly explains it isn't the b-rating or a measure of trust. Don't know how anyone would get confused

JUAN9087™ - August 12, 2018, 11:34 pm

(Aug 12, 2018 11:30 PM)TB12 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The reputation page clearly explains it isn't the b-rating or a measure of trust. Don't know how anyone would get confused

Cause people don't read, most of the people rely on colors green = trust, red = distrust, unfortunately thats how it is.

NZT - August 13, 2018, 12:03 am

(Aug 12, 2018 11:34 PM)JUAN9087™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Cause people don't read, most of the people rely on colors green = trust, red = distrust, unfortunately thats how it is.

Exactly this.

Just because it explains not to trust reputation deep within the rules, doesn't mean that people will know that.

Also HF has spent years building a community where reputation was associated with trust. You can't change all of that in one update and hope people just totally forget years worth of association.

CPA Exposé - August 13, 2018, 9:02 am

(Aug 13, 2018 12:03 AM)NZT Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Exactly this.

Just because it explains not to trust reputation deep within the rules, doesn't mean that people will know that.

Also HF has spent years building a community where reputation was associated with trust. You can't change all of that in one update and hope people just totally forget years worth of association. There's a huge notice above reputation pages now. It's not "deep within the rules."

If anyone misses that, they need medical attention.

TB12 - August 13, 2018, 9:15 am

(Aug 13, 2018 12:03 AM)NZT Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Exactly this.

Just because it explains not to trust reputation deep within the rules, doesn't mean that people will know that.

Also HF has spent years building a community where reputation was associated with trust. You can't change all of that in one update and hope people just totally forget years worth of association. Hack Forums isn't going to add pointless changes because of a few braindead people. Hack

Forums is not responsible for their stupidity

Omniscient - August 13, 2018, 1:57 pm

Let's just ban you for 6 months. That seems to have solved a problem.