Mr. Robot - August 15, 2018, 1:11 am

This shit has been bugging me for so long I have finally decided to try do something about it.

<https://www.change.org/p/all-games-and-viewers-twitch-to-turn-down-their-global-ad-volume>

Basically Twitch.tv everyone has different mic volumes, trying to listen and relax - especially as I fall asleep watching streams, as many people do, then an ad comes on and it's fucking disgustingly loud.

SUI-3183372 - August 15, 2018, 1:28 am

Signed, seems like a genuinely good enough cause.

Some people think it's not an issue, either they are talking shit or have never tried to relax/sleep. I think people would be surprised at how many people try to sleep with videos playing and use twitch for it.

That shit is so damn loud. Even posts like this on reddit.

I always fall asleep with a gaming commentary in the background; so I do agree. Will be signing.

Cheers guys I appreciate it. Hopefully we can get the ball rolling. Sometimes I want to support channels without an adblocker or whatever but I can't do that if they want me to go deaf and want to murder someone.

Nico - August 15, 2018, 1:58 am

I support you fully on this issue. I used to get annoyed when ads would pop up and completely obliterate my fucking eardrums. I don't really watch anyone on Twitch anymore, but I still signed for you.

I used to load up Twitch on my smart TV from time to time, and it was pretty unbearable until I actually logged into my prime account. Viewing as a guest sucked. Either I had the volume down so low in fear of loud ads that I couldn't hear the actual content, or I let the volume stay at a normal level and hope I'm not disturbing anyone in a 4 block radius when the ads to come on.

Completely agree. Signed my dude.

SysAdmin - August 15, 2018, 3:21 am

You're like the dude from Postal 2.

"Sign this petition or I'll follow you home and kill your dog"

Eitherway, signed.

MrArchiveTemp - August 15, 2018, 11:05 am

Seems reasonable enough and would be a decent change, signed.

Been just chillin the last couple hours tryna grab some sleep and these goddam ads wont stop increasing in volume, right now the worst offender is some rap bullshit ad. No idea who the artist is - when it comes up again i'll try check but the other ads are loud - sure - this one however is 10x LOUDER than what i'm complaining about.

= Just came up as I posted this, it's XXXtentacion - dude is haunting me from his grave. Fuck off you dumb piece of shit, your music sucks and your dead. Literally people monetizing your dead corpse. GO away.

000 - August 15, 2018, 11:10 am

Yeah, okay. Signed up. (:

Doc - August 15, 2018, 11:12 am

Surely one can code something that limits an application's dB gain to a certain amount, essentially an equalizer? Most audio devices on Windows have the equalizer as an audio enhancement in the sound panel.

BITCHLESS - August 15, 2018, 11:13 am

There is a reason why the ads are loud eg YouTube, Twitch or Spotify to catch your attention. That's how the huge world of online ads works. Even if you get these signatures, they will not do anything about it. Try to install adblock.

wit - August 15, 2018, 11:14 am haven't seen you online lately

I actually haven't gotten any ads on Twitch.. Weird. Might be due to country restrictions or some shit. I still signed the petition though, lol.

Yes let's support destroying how content creators make money -

No, I wont install an adblocker for content I enjoy watching - that's ridiculous. Deal with the ad or pay for the service to avoid them. I do have a paid twitch account to avoid them, it's the one I stream on for HF however I have 2fa on it and my 2fa is on my wifes phone so I never get around to logging in on my bedroom PC.

At the end of the day the issue is the volume on the ads which causes an unpleasant experience.

They are so loud they are basically a jump scare at this point which has just been a huge problem on youtube. (referencing the ads that convinced you your phone volume muted so you go to turn it up then you get screamed at)

I think I signed. Not sure ?

DataExhauster - August 15, 2018, 1:58 pm

Signed, not the most pressing issue I could possibly think of but regardless good luck!

SwimmingPool - August 15, 2018, 2:04 pm

I have experienced this also. I don't think it would be hard for twitch to create a hook that averages the decibel level of a stream and then plays the ad at the same volume.

You could code a program that opens twitch browser and once there's an ad, it automatically lowers its volume. (a bot basically) .

What do you think about this idea?

RAT - August 15, 2018, 2:07 pm

A great petition. Finally someone doing something about it.

nepnep420 - August 15, 2018, 2:31 pm

signed. i thought i was the only one that was pissed about it.

Alexander - August 15, 2018, 3:20 pm

We all know you're just trying to dox everyone on HF. You only made it about Twitch because you knew it would be good for HF as a target audience

yrnGarry - September 7, 2018, 8:03 pm

Fuck you and your stupid petition. I am not signing shit for you. Enjoy the neg.

Nothing taht concerns me but signed it anyway.

Kaleb - September 7, 2018, 9:24 pm

I feel your pain on this some Hulu shows I watch have their music mixed mich louder than everything else. Either that or my TV is going to shit.

Abrxpt - September 7, 2018, 9:28 pm

Will sign this for you now.

As a streamer and a person who watches a lot I know the exact feeling!

CyberError - September 7, 2018, 9:28 pm

singed just for you , because i dont use twitch

Yeah not to be a pessimist but 100 signatures on change.org probably isn't going to get twitch to change this.

DopplerAF - September 8, 2018, 1:53 am

Singed and seems like a nuce idea.

Traum - September 8, 2018, 3:15 am

Seems like a good cause to me, I'll sign it for you.

Raz Riverblade - September 8, 2018, 3:28 am

Haven't ever had that problem.

Signed none the less.

Tax - September 8, 2018, 4:13 am

Signed it eventhough I don't use Twitch.
